In Gulf Of Tonkin

4 Of Red Torpedo Boats Pounded By U.S. Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes caught four North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin today, sank two and damaged the other two, a spokesman said.

In South Viet Nam, the Viet Cong made two unsuccessful attempts to block the chief shipping channel between Saigon and the sea.

One explosion near a U.S. Navy minesweeper caused no casualties and only minor damage to the ship. Sunday a Communist mine sank a small South Vietnamese minesweeper in the Long Tao Channel but the ship went down near the river bank, leaving the waterway open to traffic.

Last Tuesday a Communist mine sank the American cargo ship Baton Rouge Victory in the same channel with a loss of seven lives.

U.S. and other allied ground forces engaged in only minor skirmishes with the enemy after a weekend of light fighting, but the South Vietnamese reported killing 73 Viet Cong in two engagements.

A company of about 150 South Vietnamese militiamen took moderate losses in an ambush near the Cambodian border northeast of Saigon and claimed 14 Communists were killed.

In the air-sea battle in the Gulf of Tonkin, three of the Communist torpedo boats were spotted early today 70 miles southeast of Haiphong by fighter-bombers from the carrier Constellation.

The Navy pilots reported they were fired on while making identification passes. After three attacks, they reported sinking one PT boat and damaging the other two.

A few hours later, two Navy planes reported a torpedo boat fired on them from an area of coastal islands northeast of Haiphong. The Navy A4 Skyhawks attacked with rockets and cannon and reported the North Vietnamese boat sank in flames.

In the river attack near Saigon, a Viet Cong mine exploded 15 feet from the U.S. minesweeper, a 57-foot craft with a crew of six. The crew reported receiving small-arms and automatic-weapons fire from the shore but suffered no casualties.

B52 bombers from Guam returned to a favorite target today, making two raids on the Viet Cong stronghold near the Cambodian border in Tay Ninh Province. One wave of the big bombers struck at a Viet Cong area and another at a suspected supply depot, 55 and 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. pilots flew 103 missions against the Communist North Sunday, all of them along the Gulf of Tonkin coast and in the southern Panhandle.

Pilots struck at seven oil storage depots including one 11 miles southwest of Haiphong. They claimed damage to three depots and probable damage to several others.

Pilots also reported they damaged or destroyed 36 barges, 14 bridges, 44 buildings, 26 trucks and 14 railroad freight cars.

On the ground, units of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade destroyed 15 enemy bunkers 43 miles southeast of Saigon while pursuing small Viet Cong forces. The airborne troops took light casualties, a U.S. spokesman said, and enemy casualties were not known.

The loss of a Navy prop-driven Skyraider 35 miles south of Thanh Hoa Sunday raised the U.S. aircraft toll over the Communist North to 3 for the weekend and 346 for the air war. The Navy flier was rescued, but two of the four airmen shot down Saturday were reported missing.

American pilots flew 364 sorties over South Viet Nam Sunday and claimed knocking out or damaging 302 enemy huts and other structures, 11 tunnels and 9 bunkers. South Vietnamese pilots flew an additional 220 single-plane sorties.

The Vietnamese minesweeper sank 19 miles southeast of Saigon after hitting an electrically detonated mine in the main shipping channel to the capital. One Vietnamese crewman was killed and three other persons

'Red Guards' On Prowl Before Soviet Embassy

Cries Mount On Changes In Ideology

Soviet Government Launches Official Protest In Action

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of young Red Guards demonstrated in front of the Soviet Embassy in Peking today but heeded official warnings against violence.

Japanese newsmen reported from the Chinese capital that tens of thousands of young Chinese marched on the embassy shouting "anti-revisionist" slogans. Chinese leaders accuse the Russians of revising Communist ideology.

However, the demonstrators — in contrast to the rowdiness of recent days — were orderly. The official Peking People's Daily said the Red Guards and other demonstrators have heeded official calls to maintain discipline.

Red Guards planned two days of demonstrations in front of the embassy as the current purge swept across China and into Lhasa, the ancient capital of Tibet.

Large portraits of Marx, Lenin, Stalin and Mao Tze-tung faced the Soviet Embassy building as the Red Guards prepared to rename the street leading to the embassy. Known as the Street of the Prince's Well, it is being renamed Prevent Revisionism Street.

The Soviet government lodged an "emphatic" protest with the Chinese Embassy in Moscow over the weekend charging hooliganism outside the Soviet Embassy and demanding effective measures to protect Soviet diplomats.

The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from Peking that Red Guard demonstrators occupied the street leading to the embassy Friday, making it difficult for foreign diplomats to attend a film showing and cocktail party at the embassy.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the crowd threw stones at a Soviet official and stopped an embassy car.

Newsmen, who were roughed up in previous demonstrations, were given written invitations to the demonstration today.

The Peking People's Daily said the demonstrators, warned against using force rather than reasoning, are "determined to become, like the people's liberation army, model workers in applying mass discipline."

Marshal Chu Teh, an 80-year-old patriarch of the Chinese Communist party, said Sunday "a great, unprecedented proletarian cultural revolution is surging through our country," the New China News Agency reported.

The agency said the Red Guards have changed names of streets, shops and schools across China, giving them new names with "a revolutionary meaning" to propagate Mao's

New 'March' Set Tonight For Rights

Guards' Bayonets Help Shield Group In Milwaukee Area

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Civil rights marchers, shielded by National Guard bayonets from screaming and taunting throngs of whites, picketed in suburban Wauwatosa Sunday night for the 10th night in a row.

The marchers, who returned to Milwaukee with hundreds of battle-dressed guardsmen on all sides, plan to go back again tonight to Wauwatosa — the suburb dubbed the "City of Homes."

"It wouldn't take much to touch it off," said Adj. Gen. Ralph Olson, commander of the Wisconsin National Guard. "All it would take is a little spark."

So far the tension has produced no violence and only a handful of arrests. The 477 guardsmen, ordered into Wauwatosa Sunday after Gov. Warren P. Knowles had failed to get civil rights leaders to agree to a cooling-off period and a conference, were put on a standby basis pending today's developments.

Knowles must decide today whether to send them back into the area.

"We're going back because we have a problem out there," said Nate Harwell, 22, publicity chairman for the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "Judge Cannon has got to bend."

The council's protests against membership by Circuit Judge Robert C. Cannon in the allegedly racially restricted Fraternal Order of Eagles reached an emotional peak Sunday night — the 10th night of picketing in Cannon's tree-lined neighborhood of expensive brick and stone homes.

Maj. Gen. John Dunlap, commander of the 32nd Infantry Division, National Guard, estimated that 2,000 to 3,500 persons jammed sidewalks and curbsides as the predominantly Negro band of 200 marchers walked five miles through downtown Milwaukee and into the neighborhood.

Wauwatosa police and sheriff's deputies worked feverishly to keep the hostile crowd under control. Their job was complicated by a band of about 30 counterpickets. Some of them chanted, "Burn, blackie, burn," and "Kill, kill, kill the jungle bunnies."

The civil rights marchers were allowed to picket in front of Cannon's home. Cannon, former adviser to the Major League Baseball Players Association, was in Columbus, Ohio, for a speaking engagement and was not expected back until Wednesday. Cannon has refused a council demand that he resign from the Eagles.

Guardsmen, waiting nearby in full battle gear and with fixed bayonets, were summoned to the scene. They took up positions shielding both groups of pickets from the spectators.

Most of the taunts were directed at the Rev. James Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest who serves as director of the NAACP council. Groppi was in the front ranks of the marchers.

"Lynch that Roman Catholic priest," someone yelled from the sidewalk. "Groppi, you crumb."

After picketing 30 minutes, the marchers reassembled in the streets. Guardsmen took positions on all four sides and escorted them to the Milwaukee line.

Just as they were leaving, a firecracker exploded in the rear. One of the marchers was struck in the head by a rock. He continued walking.

"Sure, I expected it," Father

Event Closes At Lisbon

New Records Set By Fair Crowds

LISBON — Columbiana County's 121st annual fair ended Sunday night with record one-day and total attendance figures.

Busy, and tired, directors estimated the five-day total at 67,500, compared with 43,500 last year. Weather was perfect throughout — sunny and temperate.

The one-day mark was 20,000 Saturday when the attractions were an afternoon of harness racing and the Rotroff all-girl auto thrill show.

BOARD members doubled as ticket takers and parkers to help handle crowds Saturday night. Cars were backed up for several blocks and a field below the cemetery opposite the fairgrounds was used for parking for the first time.

President Edwin Thompson, other directors and Secretary Velma Cope were enthusiastic over acceptance of the exposition.

A helicopter ride sponsored by the Lisbon Rotary Club had spectators peering skyward Saturday and Sunday. The "chopper" landed in a small fenced-off portion of the south parking lot and made flights over town even after dark.

Attractions Sunday were a band concert and twirling teams in the afternoon and a four-hour horse show last night. Attendance yesterday was estimated at 10,000.

High school bands from Wellsville, Beaver Local and West Branch played in front of the grandstand. Twirling units performing were the Vi Lar Kadettes of East Liverpool, the Jane-Ettes of East Palestine, the Gyllettes of Salem, the Di-Cadettes of Lisbon and the Lisbon Volunteer Fire Department majorettes.

Man Suffers Loss Of Arm As Cars Ram

Resident Of City In 'Fair' Condition Following Accident

A 35-year-old city man suffered the loss of an arm in an auto accident late Sunday afternoon on Route 7, a mile north of Rogers.

Raymond E. Humphrey of 821 Lincoln Ave. was in "fair" condition today at Salem City Hospital with injuries suffered in the mishap timed by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon at 4:45.

Humphrey suffered the amputation of the left arm and abrasions of the right arm when another car swerved across the center line and collided with his.

The patrol said the other car was operated by Carol I. Heal, 22, of Youngstown, who was cited for driving left of center. She was treated for injuries of the scalp and left knee.

She was headed south in a compact car, which was virtually demolished, when it went off the right side of the highway. The vehicle then swerved back onto the highway, crossing the centerline and hitting the northbound Humphrey car, officers reported.

Two Industry men were injured in another collision Saturday at 4 p.m. on Route 45, about five miles north of Salem.

Officers said the mishap involved cars operated by Clayton R. Foster, 21, of Middletown Rd., Salem, and Victor R. Bohm, 20, of 212 Madison Ave., Industry.

Foster was southbound on Route 45 when Bohm pulled from Pine Lake Rd. into his path. Following the impact, both cars went off the highway into a ditch. Bohm was cited for failure to yiled the right-of-way.

4 Teen-Agers Hurt In Crash Near Chester

Accelerator Sticks, Causing Car's Dive Over Embankment

Four Aliquippa girls were taken by ambulance to City Hospital shortly after midnight Saturday when the auto in which they were riding spun around and went over the hillside on Route 30 near Chester, the Hancock County sheriff's department reported.

Injured were the driver, Kathleen Menich, 19, of 1206 Ridgeway Ave., with contusions and abrasions of the left elbow; Diane Sumner, 19, of 1902 Truman Dr., with contusions and abrasions of the neck; Dawn Phillips, 20, of 1221 Ridgeway Ave., with contusions of the ribs, and her sister, Terry Phillips, 17, with contusions of the right ear and neck.

All the girls were released following treatment.

Miss Menich told deputies that the gas pedal on the westbound 1960 sedan stuck as it descended the long grade leading into Taylor's Bend. She was unable to maintain control of the car, which swerved and spun around in the opposite lane and went over the hillside.

The auto was demolished.

Miss Menich was cited by deputies for failure to have her vehicle under control.

West Virginia Blaze Claims Lives Of Four

VIENNA, W. Va. (AP)—Four persons burned to death Sunday in a fire at the home of Dr. Robert C. Cohen, prominent Wood County physician.

They were identified as Mrs. Robert Cohen Sr., 62, 8-year-old Babs Cohen, Johnny Talbot, 9, and 3-year-old Jeff Talbott.

The youngsters were Mrs. Cohen's granddaughter and great-nephews, respectively.

Authorities said four other children in the brick house escaped the blaze by jumping onto a garage roof from a second floor level.

The fire broke out while Dr. and Mrs. Cohen were attending the West Virginia State Medical Association Convention at White Sulphur Springs.

Vienna volunteer firemen said they were not certain what caused the blaze.

Teen-Agers Pack Club In Citizens' Raid

Group 'Deputized' After Complaints Of Cove Operations

A "citizens' raid" was conducted by Squire Dick Wright of Route 30, near Chester, and four special constables early Sunday morning on the Cove Inn, located on West Virginia Route 2, not far from the "Strip" night-club area.

The citizens were deputized following numerous complaints of after-hours operations in Hancock County involving teen-agers, according to Wright.

Between 300 and 400 teen-agers, some appearing as young as 12 or 13 years old, were estimated to be present in the club when the raiding party entered about 1:45.

The operator of the establishment, Jerry Manfred of Steubenville, was charged with after-hours operations and is scheduled to appear before Squire Wright Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Wright and the special constables took down the license numbers of 113 automobiles parked outside. Sixty-five were from Pennsylvania, 33 from Ohio, and 15 from West Virginia, Wright said.

The information will be turned over to law enforcement officials in the three states, he added.

Security Tightened Against New Rioting

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (AP) — Security was tightened today in restive French Somaliland to prevent recurrence of last week's bloody independence riots when President Charles de Gaulle returns tonight en route to Cambodia.

Pierre Billotte, French secretary of state for overseas territories, broadcast an appeal for calm and reconciliation among dissident elements in France's last remaining African territory.

Billotte also conferred with Ahmed Idress Moussa, leader of the Parti du Mouvement Populaire which sparked many of the independence demonstrations. They resulted in 4 dead and 70 injured.

Faith Thrashes Northward

Hurricane-Taming Effort Still May Be Attempted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurrican Faith, thrashing slowly northward in the Atlantic, brushed the Bahama Islands with fringe winds today and floundered into an area chosen for a storm-taming effort by seeding planes.

But, when the 120-mile winds entered the region where she could be safely bombarded with silver iodide crystals, the forces which had been poised for the attack had partly disbanded.

Dr. Cecil Gentry, alternate director of the U.S. government's Project Stormfury, said there was some doubt that the mission could now be carried out.

For several days, scientists had stood by in Florida and Puerto Rico, ready with a fleet of planes for the first sustained try at breaking up the destructive power of a hurricane.

But, after Faith had skirted the chosen area for several days, some of the key men in the project returned to their home bases.

If Faith continues her slow movement, however, Gentry said the possibility remained that the effort could still be made.

At 8 a.m., Faith was 575 miles due east of Miami and 230 miles east-northeast of San Salvador in the Bahamas.

Drifting northward at five miles an hour, the hurricane lashed the seas with 120-mile winds reaching out 50 miles from the eye. Gales whipped 300 miles to the north and 150 miles to the south.

Forecasters said the storm was expected to continue on the same track for at least 24 hours, approaching no closer to the chain of Bahamas Islands.

But Faith's future course could not be determined and all interests in the islands were warned to keep in close touch with future advisories.

Over the wekeend, winds of gale force whistled through the U.S. space tracking station on Grand Turk Island. The station was tightly boarded up.

Market Slides Again With Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its slide in heavy trading early today.

At 10:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 6.01 points at 774.55.

Losses of key issues ranged from a few cents to about $1 a share with more volatile issues falling more steeply.

The market had declined in nine of its 10 previous sessions.

Contractor Launches City's Street Program

The Ohio Valley Paving Co. of St. Clairsville today started work on the first phase of East Liverpool's annual low-cost summer street surfacing program.

Crews began work in the Pleasant Heights area, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said. With sections of 34 streets scheduled for improvement, the crews first were to apply a prime coat of liquid asphalt. Then two successive courses of coating and fine slag will be applied.

The prime coat has a tendency to stick to shoes and auto tires, so pedestrians and motorists should avoid it whenever possible, Vodrey warned.

Would Be 12th Cabinet Department

House Nears Final Action On Transportation Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House makes another stab today at completing action on an administration proposal to establish a cabinet-level department of transportation.

But final approval may be put off until Tuesday by a flock of amendments.

Strong bipartisan backing for what would be the 12th Cabinet department emerged in opening debate last week, apparently assuring passage of the bill. But the House may first vote to remove some of its major segments.

Chief target is the Maritime Administration. A Republican-led move, strongly supported by the maritime unions, is expected to succeed in taking the agency out of the proposed department after efforts to compromise the matter apparently collapsed.

Success of this amendment would leave the Maritime Administration in the Commerce Department, pending action later on another bill to make it an independent agency.

Other key elements in the transportation department would be the Federal Aviation Agency, the Bureau of Public Roads, the Coast Guard and the safety functions now handled by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The transportation measure has not come before the Senate. It is the chief business before the House on a light pre-Labor Day schedule that includes a batch of relatively uncontroversial bills, such as the measure authorization funds for the Peace Corps.

The Senate takes up a bill to extend the Food for Peace program under which the United States sells farm surpluses to foreign countries. The Senate Agriculture Committee rejected House-passed revisions in the program, including changing its name to "Food for Freedom."

Both House and Senate are experted to act during the week on a compromise auto safety bill approved last Thursday by a House-Senate conference set up to resolve differences between separate bills passed unanimously earlier by the two houses.

President Johnson reportedly hopes to sign the bill over the Labor Day weekend.

Another conference committee is expected to reach agreement this week on the foreign aid authorization bill, but final action by the two houses will probably be deferred until after Labor Day.

Post office regulations require that all third-class mailers follow prescribed procedures for zip-coded mail as of January 1, 1967.

Canada Maps Action To Get Trains Going

OTTAWA (AP) — Thousands of Canadians jammed bus and air terminals over the weekend as the government prepared legislation to get the nation's railroads running again.

Virtually all rail service halted Friday as 118,000 employes struck for higher wages. Seeking an average increase of 30 per cent, they rejected an 18 per cent increase over two years.

Parliament was to meet this afternoon to receive two government bills. Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said one would be designed to get the strikers back to work.

The other, described as a massive transportation bill, is expected to ease a seven-year freeze on freight rates and permit the railroads to drop some uneconomical routes.

Mediation talks, which broke off Friday, were expected to resume after both sides have studied the government measures.

He was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church, its church session and a former Sunday School superintendent and teacher of the Men's Bible Class. His wife, May Anderson Sloan, died in 1944.

A government spokesman also reported that a small landing craft hit a Viet Cong mine in a river 54 miles southwest of Saigon Saturday, causing several casualties.

In a continuation of terrorism apparently aimed at undermining confidence in the government before the Sept. 11 elections, the Communists exploded a mine in a newspaper stall only a block from Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's office in Saigon. The blast wounded a Vietnamese cadet from the nearby Thu Duc military academy.

Medicare In Operation

Not everybody believed the slander that Americans over 65 were deliberately waiting for medicare so they could flood hospitals with geriatric problems.

Skeptics pointed out while the slander was being circulated by opponents of medicare that patients are not admitetd to hospitals on their own say-so but must be admitted because doctors say it is necessary for them to be there. Thus, it was going to depend on doctors, and doctors would continue to take a professional attitude toward illness.

People who had not been carried away by the rancor of the medicare fight, featured by some of the most perfervid propaganda ever loosed against the public, acknowledged that most aging people in this country had not been without medical care; that it was how to pay for the ever-rising cost of illness that was the real problem.

Here and there a blunt realist contended that the bugaboo of an invasion of hospitals by the aged after July 1, 1966, was the cruelest hoax played on the unthinking since the Yellow Peril of a generation ago. The Yellow Peril didn't materialize, either. There never was anything to it.

The Associated Press says the first two months of medicare have produced none of the terrible consequences predicted. The old folks were not waiting to gang up on overcrowded hospitals. They were not nursing their ills in seclusion waiting for a chance to get something for next to nothing.

Hospital admissions have risen about three per cent. Total admissions under medicare are about 700,000, and nearly all of these would have been admitted if medicare hadn't gone into effect. Some already were in hospitals when medicare went into effect.

According to Associated Press, the only thing that has raised doubts about medicare so far is the increased volume of paper work. Naturally, the federal government must account for the money it is spending. And inevitably the people who must fill out the forms required are regarded as another infliction of bureaucracy upon a long-suffering public.

But perhaps even the paperwork burden will not be as burdensome in the long run as feared. After all, hospitals were not strangers to paperwork before last July 1.

The Source Of Most Evil

It was to have been expected that Youngstown and every city mentioned by name in National Broadcasting Co.'s white paper on organized crime would take exception to the presentation's theme. Youngstown has been heard from.

The theme bore down hard on the idea that organized crime is rampant in the United States; that it should be a matter of deep concern; that organized crime cannot exist without the knowledge and corruption of law enforcement officials.

The exception to the theme will bear down hard on the idea that one man's crime may be another man's pleasure and his living. This apparently is the prevailing idea in Youngstown and obviously is the prevailing idea in Las Vegas.

This moral dichotomy confronts pragmatic officials with a puzzler. If they go against the grain of a community that condones illegal gambling, they will be relieved of official responsibility. If they take a pragmatic view and push the community in the direction it seems to want to go—if they satisfy the market for gambling, for example—they will carry the stigma of corruption to their graves.

Two things about the NBC white paper program were outstanding.

One was the Oscar performances of public officials trying to make it appear they were without knowledge or guilt in the matter of lawbreaking.

The other was the age-old standoff between reformers and realists — reformers trying to make people come up to reform standards, realists trying to come to terms with people on natural levels of behavior.

This applied only to that part of the NBC presentation dealing with gambling. But without gambling, to supply capital and the competition for gamblers' money, most organized vice in the United States, along with the threat of criminal infiltration of legitimate business, would cease to be a threat.

Children's Crusade

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

What's happening in China today is a children's crusade.

In time the Chinese will look back with shame on this young people's rampage set loose with the blessing of Mao Tze-tung and his leadership for a purpose that's plain.

It's a defensive effort by Mao and his clique to throttle and for the foreseeable future intimidate critics or would - be critics of his regime. This is being done on the heels of purges already carried out.

The Mao group has made progress in bringing China into the 20th century although its present failures are not widely known in the West, with one exception. That's in foreign affairs.

BUT IT IS a shocking revelation of Mao's uncertainty about the Communist party's grip on the people that after 17 years in control the Mao regime has to call youngsters, including hooligans, into the streets to frighten the masses into obedience and silence.

Control of the 700 million Chinese is made easier if Mao's ruling group can create an image of him as an omniscient father whom none dare question without committing sin.

In this case the sin would be considered stupidity or treason.

But in the process the leadership itself becomes childish, or else is exhibiting a profound contempt for the intelligence of the Chinese people.

The New China News Agency has just said: Absorb the great thought of Mao and you too can be on the winning team. Then it explained how Red China's world championship table tennis team studied Mao's political and military tactics to learn how to win at tennis.

But the Red Chinese are not winning in foreign affairs. Sunday for instance, the Italian Communist party called the policies of Red China a failure.

The Italian party's newspaper said stands taken by China have cost communism dearly in Asia, with a setback in Indonesia and India, and had even weakened the Communist cause in Viet Nam.

The paper could have gone into other contingents to show Red China's foreign failures, including the Russians and other Communists in Europe, except for tiny Albania.

IN PEKING, Shanghai and other cities bands of young people, under the name of "Red Guard", were carrying out what one Red Chinese newspaper called a "fierce attack on all old ideas, culture, customs and habits."

The attacks ranged from changing street names to desecrating the few Christian churches still left in China and raiding private homes to humiliate anyone not as faceless as the youth seem to want all to be.

The poor foreign policy of Red China has been interpreted as aggressiveness and extremism in dealing with other Communists or backward peoples but the basic reason for the failure is probably political immaturity.

The endless deification of Mao, the use of such juvenile tactics as the "Red Guard," the wretched relationships with neighbors and other Communist parties give the Red Chinese a special look of absurdity.

This is probably due to feelings of inferiority, inflexibility due to the long years of preparation for the revolution, and a self - consciousness due to both.

When I have nothing else to do, I try to decide if anyone I can think of would have been able to dominate the confusion that threatens to engulf President Johnson. So far I have come up with no candidate.

Without knowing it at the time, or later, a New York Times man named Foster Hailey profoundly influenced my life with one remark. His death in Tucson at the age of 67 (he died on his birthday) was a personal jolt.

I wonder from time to time where the next outbreak of violence will occur on the international scene. Wherever it is, we can be 73 per cent sure the United States will be there, because, today the sun never sets on the Yankee umpire.

I will miss the New York Herald Tribune. I thought its efforts to step up readability were interesting and successful. It was not lack of quality that weakened it but lack of advertising.

Earlier this year when climatological misfortune plagued me and other seed gardeners, I never would have guessed that in August the hybrid zinnias that were my 1966 floral pitch would be the most spectacular success of my lengthening career as an unsuccessful gardener.

Two things keep disappearing out of my life —nail clippers and putty knives. Every time I want to use these homely tools, I must buy new ones, because the old ones have disappeared.

Two years ago, I didn't see how I could sustain life without a seersucker jacket — the kind with blue-gray stripes on a white background. I wore it three times and never have had any reason to wear it again, like the opera hat I bought when young and carried in a foldup state under my arm because I thought it looked silly.

I haven't been going to county fairs in recent years, but one of my rural relations at the family reunion has her special reason for staying away this year. She says it has been a poor year for vegetables and there won't be much anything worth looking at.

I doubt if I ever will understand the logic of the mad auto chase through city streets, endangering lives. Wouldn't it make more sense to take the license number and avoid the risk of killing people by careening at hign speed through congested neighborhoods?

Tennis still bears the handicap of a semisissy reputation, though in fact it is the most demanding sport of all, keeping the players in motion continuously, with no chance for a letdown — even more grueling than racehorse basketball.

His Amplifier

U.S. Communist Goal Reviewed

Few Americans are in a better position to know and interpret the inner operations of the American Communist party than J. Edgar Hoover. Today he is substituting for Victor Riesel.

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

Representatives of the Communist party, USA, gathered in New York City for the party's first national convention in nearly seven years. In a three-story brick building situated on New York's lower East Side, it lasted from June 22 through June 26, 1966.

Attendees in the Grand Ballroom witnessed no spectaculars. No Roman candles went off. Not a single rocket shot skyward. Even the few proposals voiced by the more naive comrades fizzled like damp firecrackers.

The reason was simple. The iron fist of "democratic centralism" prevailed. Gus Hall and his cohorts forced acceptance of the rigidly detailed preconvention plans in foxed authoritarian fashion. This process was carried out behind the facade of an "open" convention and it was done for a sound reason.

THE ILLUSION of the open convention is strictly in line with the vigorous and determined effort which the Communist party, USA, is presently making to pass itself off as "just another political party" in the United States. Guests were invited for two purposes: to be impressed by the "openness" of the convention and, by mixing non-Communists with Communists, to make identification of the bona fide Communists present difficult.

Despite early and voluminous propaganda to the effect that the convention would be an "open" meeting, preconvention activity indicated exactly what the Communists mean by "open."

General Secretary Gus Hall set the ground rules in true authoritarian fashion. It was, of course, a foregone conclusion that he was to be "re-elected." Similarly, he "suggested" that CPUSA Vice Chairman Henry Winston be elected national chairman.

It was his "suggestion," also, that the CPUSA National Committee, which had dropped to 48 members, should be increased to permit the retention of "the old cadre" and the selection of some young members.

LONG BEFORE the 18th National Convention was called to order, it became very apparent that the centralism in "democratic centralism" as interpreted by Gus Hall would predominate.

The convention verified this. It merely served to ratify the cut-and-dried program promulgated by General Secretary Gus Hall.

What actually occurred at the 18th Annual Convention of the Communist party, USA?

Gus all harangued his audience in a three-hour keynote address which pointed up current Communist interests.

Communist functionaries presented reports on the following: Organization of the Convention; Trade Unions; Civil Rights; Youth Matters; Party Organization; Resolutions and Leadership.

The constitution of the Communist party, USA, was altered slightly with regard to the election of new members of the national committee. Eighty national committee members were elected from a slate of 108.

An international "solidarity and cultural session" was held on the evening of June 25, 1966. The general secretary opened the meeting, indicating that he was impressed by the number of young people present. Youthful delegates from foreign countries in the Western Hemisphere expressed their "solidarity" by indulging in bitter attacks on the United States.

OF WHAT SIGNIFICANCE is the 18th national convention of the Communist party, USA? What are the implications for the future?

On the basis of delegate optimism, we may expect a fresh surge of Ctmmunist activity and agitation. There will be renewed attempts on the part of Communists to gain and wield influence in the youth field, in civil rights activities, and on the labor front. We will be treated to a constant drum beat of "Get Out of Viet Nam!" and peace-at-any-price proposals.

We will witness massive attempts to achieve one major goal, namely persuading the American people that the Communist party, USA, no longer is foreign-directed. Indeed, we may anticipate endless variations on the theme that it's "just another political party on the American scene."

This effort — in Communist parlance, "the fight for legality among the masses of the people"—requires the denunciation of all disclosures of the conspiratorial nature of Communism as absolute falsehoods. The "Vote Communist!" slogan, last used in the '30s, will again be promoted.

In this connection, we may anticipate that, although they may not run on the Communist party ticket, more and more members of the party will be candidates for political office.

THE SUCCESS of Mrs. Dorothy Healey, West Coast Communist party functionary, in garnering more than 86,000 votes in a recent election gave tremendous buoyancy to the hopes of Communist political activists. According to party officials, court decrees tending to eliminate restrictions on Communist activities similarly have buoyed political aspirations. There are clear indications that more and more Communists shortly will be running on "peace" and freedom tickets.

The Communist party in the United States is intent on breaking out of its isolation. It seeks an infusion of fresh young blood by seizing on the unrest among young people. Its officials believe that, by taking advantage of the idealism and inexperience of many college-age youths, they can edge them subtly toward the Communist orbit and, later, draw them totally into the Red sphere.

It's the current dream of the Communist Party, USA, to unify all radical elements within the United States under the hammer and sickle. The "breakthrough," which the party believes it is achieving with regard to the "New Left," was a significant subject for discussion at the convention.

Party officials, in effect, ran up a Red flag at the 18th national convention of the CPUSA. They did so inadvertently through the steps they took. These steps they hope and expect, will constitute the Communist party as a major force in the political, economic and social life of this nation in the future. Alert Americans will heed that warning flag.

Film fans packed the Ceramic Theater for the opening of the return engagement of "The Great Ziegfeld' starring William Powell and Myrna Loy.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — More than 150 attended the first annual banquet given by the 142 Club at the Masonic Lodge in Chester. A. J. Owen, president, was toastmaster.

The descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Laughlin held a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finley of Georgetown.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Babbling Brooks Quartet of East Liverpool, comprised of Earl Brooks and his three sons, sang at the Ohio State Fair at Columbus.

Pro And Con

There are two schools of thought on goats.

One holds that goats are friends of man, supplying him with nourishing milk, tender meat, supple hides and soft hair. All this useful animal asks in return is a bit of scraggly grass or brush to chew.

The other declares bluntly that the goal is man's worse enemy. But eating all the vegetation from vast areas, the pestiferious animal exposes the soil to erosion and ruin. Many naturalists blame goats for stripping eastern Mediterranean lands of trees.

Anti-goat people agree with the Persian proverb: "If you have no trouble, buy a goat."

The pro-goat faction scored a point recently when four French goats served underwater research by spending two weeks in a pressure tank, the National Geographic Society reports. Capt. Jacques-Yves Cousteau, director of the test, said the animals endured pressure that was equivalent of 1,900 feet below the seas.

The successful experiment strengthens plans to send French oceanauts more than a thousand feet down into the sea to live and work. Goats were tested because their metabolism is similar to man's.

LaGuardia Plan

By David Lawrence

Industrial Courts Were Urged

Congress seems indifferent to the need for legislation to find a way to protect the public interest against the huge losses resulting from strikes. Notwithstanding the widespread criticism of the airlines strike and the many other interruptions of business that have inflicted tremendous losses on innocent bystanders, neither the Senate nor House is inclined to do anything about it.

David Lawrence

Plenty of resolutions and bills have been introduced but the pressure of public opinion has not yet been felt in either house.

This is not surprising. It took 20 years or more for the late Sam Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, to get Congress to recognize by law the right of collective bargaining.

It so happens that just 20 years ago Fiorello LaGuardia, who had been elected mayor of New York City on a Fusion ticket, came out with a plan for the settlement of labor disputes that is as pertinent today as it was when first presented. Indeed, national labor union power has expanded considerably ever since.

MAYOR LaGUARDIA was a progressive Republican. While he was a member of the House of Representatives, he sponsored the Norris-LaGuardia Anti-Injunction Act, passed in 1932, which established certain rights for labor unions and particularly protected the right to strike but he foresaw the dangers that exist today. He said:

"Sufficient time to provide experience has elapsed from the day when organized labor had no rights, when the power of courts was misused and abused to supress the rights of working men, when the demands of labor were answered with the policeman's night club. We have reached maturity, and therefore it is necessary to act in an adult manner. As the abuses of old were abolished, so must new methods of abuse be prevented. Duress, unreasonableness, irresponsibility have no place in labor-management relations in our country. That, of course, applies to both sides.

"Agreements entered into through the processes of collevtive bargaining must be respected and maintained by both sides. A plan for the settlement of disputes, when direct negotiations or conciliation fails, or arbitration is rejected, must be provided. The source of such adjudication must have the respect and confidence, not only of labor and management, but of the entire counrty."

THE LaGUARDIA PLAN called for the establishment of a separate court to be known as the U.S. Industrial Court. It was recommended that there be four such courts, located in different geographical sections of the country. The judges of the courts would be appointed by the president from a panel of judges — selected and approved by the Supreme Court of the United States — already sitting in the courts generally.

Appointees would be subject to Senate confirmation. They would have to be not over the age of 55 and to have had at least five years of judicial experience in a U.S. District Court or on a state court having unlimited civil jurisdiction. Under the plan, there would be provided also an appellate court.

If management refused to abide by the decision of the industrial court, the law would provide that no deduction of labor costs would be permitted to a company for either corporate or personal income taxes. It would also be held liable for losses suffered by individuals or an organization because of the company's failure to comply with the decision of the court.

IF LABOR, on the other hand, refused to abide by the decision, the workers would forfeit all rights of unemployment insurance and would not be entitled to the priviliges and benefits provided where labor disputes exist.

Mr. LaGuardia said in his concluding statement on the plan:

"Any strike lasting over five days causes losses to both sides. In many instances, long strikes create greater losses than all the increased wages and benefits that might eventually be gained. A survey of recent strikes will show that the settlement eventually reached could, with reasonableness, have been reached within a few days after the strike. It would also perhaps show that responsibility is about equally divided between managemnt and labor."

Union labor naturally doesn't want any restrictions imposed. Management does not like compulsory arbitration but if Congress waited for all sides to agree on any proposed measure, very little corrective legislation would be passed on any subject.

If public opinion asserted itself today, Congrss would have to act, as the damage done by strikes has been dramatically illustrated in the last few years.

The 41 - year - old collector found his interest in trains reactivated five years ago when his wife brought home a 1906 Lionel engine from a church bazaar. Since then he has acquired them in antique stores, by advertising in newspapers, from acquaintances and by sheer luck.

River's Dragged Again For Youth

Dragging and diving operations resumed today for the body of a 9-year-old Pittsburgh area boy who fell from a small boat and apparently drowned in the Ohio River near Beaver late Saturday.

The victim is William G. McWilliams of Carrick. Police said the youth slipped from the craft operated by Harold McMunn of Trafford about 9 p. m., as a larger boat passed nearby, causing a wave to rock the small craft.

The search continued through the night and was taken up again after daylight Sunday. Workers temporarily abandoned the operation at midnight Sunday, but resumed the mission today, with some 12 divers assisting.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent leather upholstery from drying out and cracking?

A.—Rub it occasionally (once or twice a year) with castor oil, neat's - foot oil, or a good commercial leather conditioner. On light - colored leathers, use a white conditioner or white petroleum jelly, since most oils tend to darken leather. After rubbing the oil well in with your fingertips, wipe off every trace with a soft cloth. If using neat's-foot oil, remember that, while it is an excellent leather conditioner, it leaves a dull, rather than glossy, finish.

Q.—What can I do when I have inadvertently dropped ink on a rug?

A.—Cover the stain immediately with fresh milk, then mop it up. Cover the spot with cornstarch for a few minutes, run the vacuum cleaner over it, and wash the spot with mild soap and water.

Q.—How can I make a good fish chowder?

A.—Combine one can of cream of celery soup with a seven - ounce can of drained flaked tuna, a five - ounce can of drained chopped shrimp, and ½-cup of clam juice. Stir in one cup of milk, and ½-cup or more of finely chopped cooked potato. Simmer until ready to serve, then top each full bowl with a bit of butter and a sprinkle of paprika.

Q. — How can I improvise a shoe horn when putting on close - fitting shoes?

A. — Lay one corner of a handkerchief into the shoe, gripping the remaining portion of the handkerchief firmly, using the same as a she horn.

Man's Fine Suspended In Meter Tampering

John M. Hall of Chapel Rd., Beaver, was given a suspended $10 fine today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of tampering with a Market St. parking meter early Saturday morning.

Lt. Robert B. Pyle told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Hall said he was in a scuffle with another man in front of the New York Restaurant. When he swung at the other man, the punch missed and his fist hit the meter, Hall told police. In suspending the fine, the judge ordered Hall to leave East Liverpool as quickly as possible.

Hall also was accused in a second affidavit of assault and battery on Josephine Fleming of East End. He pleaded not guilty. The charge was dismissed after a hearing.

Lisbon Picks Band Leader

LISBON — David May, 23, of New Springfield began work today as band director at David Anderson High School.

A graduate of Springfield Local High School, May was graduated this month from the Dana School of Music of Youngstown University.

He succeeds A. George Bortz, who resigned July 5 to become band director at Bridgewater College in Virginia.

May is single. He accepted the position Saturday afternoon after seeing and hearing the local band perform at the County Fair.

Miss Jodine Pilmer, a sophomore at Westminster College, New Wilmington, and a former member of the Lisbon band, volunteered her services as a leader after Bortz left.

Band members took up a collection Saturday and bought her a gift in recognition of her help in getting them ready for the fair and football season.

Supt. Joe W. Driscoll says the faculty is complete for the opening of schools Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Car Owner Gets 30-Day Sentence In License Case

A man identified as Hubert Cline of 1609 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, was sentenced to a 30-day term in County Jail today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his auto.

The affidavit was signed by Patrolman Charles A. Winters of the local department and Sgt. Harry McCaskey of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. police, alleging that the offense took place on Aug. 13. Cline told the judge he did not know the man to whom he loaned the car did not have a license.

The affidavit said the car was being used by Howard M. Russell of 13th St., Wellsville, who was charged Aug. 13 with unlawful possession of 250 pounds of wire allegedly stolen from the Pennsy right-of-way.

Russell was scheduled for a hearing this morning, but Judge Chertoff continued the case until Wednesday. Russell now is in the County Jail serving a 30-day term imposed Aug. 15 on a charge of driving without a license.

The railroad police told the judge this morning that Cline's car was found in a junk yard.

2 Cars Damaged In City Crashes During Weekend

Two cars were damaged in a pair of minor traffic mishaps over the weekend, East Liverpool police reported.

A collision Sunday at 9:33 p.m. on E. 5th St., 75 feet east of Market St. involved a 1959 sedan operated by William Kindle, 59, of Pyramus St., Chester, and a parked 1962 sedan of Richard A. Nicholson, 17, of Irondale, officers said.

Kindle was traveling west on E. 5th St. when a door on the parked car was opened against the side of his vehicle, police said. The right door of the Nicholson car was sprung. There was no damage to Kindle's auto, police said.

The second collision was timed at 7:07 p. m. Saturday on Broadway at E. 5th St., involving a halted 1962 two - door sedan driven by Robert C. Powell of 853 Valley Ave. and a 1957 two - door sedan operated by Robert Reynolds Jr., 18, of West Point, officers said.

Powell halted for a traffic light and his car was hit from the rear by the Reynolds auto, officers said. There was damage to the rear of Powell's car.

Batman Is Hanging On To Reality

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

AUSTIN, Tex. — (NEA) — Adam West looked at the plethora of press agents in his hotel suite and listened as they handled details surrounding his visit to the Texas capital for the world premiere of his Batman movie.

He walked into the bedroom, stretched out on the carved bed and said in a voice that carried over all the talk, "Ah, the humdrum life of a star. I'm so bored."

West talked of the incident the next day.

"I had to make fun of the situation because I had been thinking, 'What am I doing here? What the hell is Billy West Anderson doing here?' "

—:—

BILLY WEST Anderson, who became Adam West who became Batman who became a national sensation, is doing all right. He seems to be hanging on to reality, and he has definitely kept his sense of humor.

"The trouble with wearing tights all the time is that you get to like them. After a day at the studio, you go home and begin looking for another pair of tights to wear." But the flip comments are again cover-ups for his true feelings.

"I grew up in a very real situation. On a ranch," he said. "It wasn't plush. As a kid I helped haul water 30 miles by mule. I have knocked around in a lot of jobs. I have worked in canneries and with convicts. I have gone to finishing school. I worked my way through Europe. I was in the Army. And I had a seven - year struggle in Hollywood. All that is a stabilizer.

ADAM WEST

"Sure, I have temperamental outbursts sometimes, but before I do I have to know I'm right. If I'm convinced I am, watch out. I listen and I hear a lot of things others don't know I hear. All of it is sifted and edited in my head and it helps me to make decisions.

"During those seven years of struggle, sometimes I would lie in bed at night and say, 'I can't go in.' But there is that underlying thing, a voice, a drive or faith. . .I don't know. I gave myself five years. I made a living, but it wasn't what I wanted. So I gave myself two more and it worked. Batman happened."

—:—

A MAN who works closely with West said, "Adam still doesn't quite believe it has all happened to him."

Adam's words indicated he knows what he will do.

"Quite simply, I want a long-term career in motion pictures as an actor. I have, through a twist of fate, become deeply involved in a show business phenomenon. I intend to hang on tightly to the comet's tail. When the comet begins to fragment, I want to be in orbit. But that's not startling. It's the aim of most actors."

West says he has often heard himself described as "enigmatic" and "elusive."

"I am on a public level. It may be deliberate on my part.

"Maybe that last comment was elusive, but I wanted to develop as a human before I came to Hollywood. I didn't want to realize my ambitions and be caught with my humanity down. This business" — and he waved at the elegant suite, the pictures on the front pages of the newspapers, the people around him — "is like the last vestiges of royalty. I don't want to let it spoil me."

High Illiteracy Rate

The illiteracy rate in Ecuador is among the world's highest. According to officials, more than 40 per cent of all inhabitants over 10 years of age do not have the ability to read or write. Only about 20 to 25 per cent of the population possess the ordinary academic skills.

O'Haras Return From World Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar T. O'Hara of Highland Ave., Wellsville, returned Friday from a 45-day trip around the world.

After visiting in the Far East and the Holy Land, they attended the World Methodist Conference at London, England.

O'Hara was an official delegate to the conference.

City Firemen Answer As Smoke Fills House

City firemen were called to the home of Lester Ice of 2146 Ohio Ave. Sunday at 12:09 p.m. on a report the home was filled with smoke, but found no blaze —only a badly-burned chicken in a roaster on the kitchen stove.

Both East End and Central Station firemen responded to the alarm, returning to their stations at 12:44. There was no damage, firemen said.

Firemen also were called to a Prospect St. home Sunday at 9:20 p. m. to retrieve a cat which was stranded on a roof.

Cleveland Man Held After Fatal Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP)—An East Side man was being held in connection with the fatal shooting of Leslie K. Washington, 25.

Police said Washington was shot during an argument at a family reunion Saturday night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Nancy Davis.

Grand Parade Today

Legion Launches 48th Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sort of Fourth-of-July-in-August atmosphere gripped the capital today as the American Legion mustered for a grand parade, a feature of its 48th national convention.

Beginning at noon and lasting for at least seven hours, the event was to send 20,000 marchers along Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues. Traffic was to be diverted around a big downtown section.

More than 6,000 of the marchers are members of bands, and drum and bugle corps. The armed services assigned some of their smartest units to take part. Four hundred National Guardsmen were directed to help police handle the crowds and the traffic.

The convention, which lasts through Thursday, has attracted some 50,000 persons, Legionnaires and their families. Hotels are jammed, overseas caps embroidered with gold-braided insignia are everywhere.

One of the convention preliminaries was a speech Sunday by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Talking about the Viet Nam war, Javits said: "I do not believe the Legion will want to sound hawkish just because people expect it to.

"Of course, we are capable of great escalation of force and of course we possess the military might to inflict unacceptable damage on our opponents, but I do not believe that Americans want to use that power at the risk of a nuclear war or, more probably, an Asian land war."

The President, Javits said, should "concentrate our primary military activities in the South to provide a shield of confidence, a shield behind which the equally real war against social and economic deprivation can go forward."

So far this convention has been staid compared to some of the rambunctious, fun-loving meetings of the past. Age is creeping up on the veterans. A Legion conference on the aged was told Friday that by 1970, all of the nation's veterans of World Wars I and II will be 45 or older.

However, this takes no account of the Korean or Viet Nam wars, which will lower the average age of veterans. Korean War veterans already are eligible for membership and the convention is expected to throw Legion membership open to those who serve in the armed forces during the undeclared war in Viet Nam.

Humphrey And Nixon Look At Major Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey expects Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to be a "great help to the Democratic party" in this year's election campaign.

Humphrey said he can't account for the public opinion polls which seem to indicate that the New York Democrat has greater political popularity at the moment than President Johnson.

But the vice president added: "I would expect that President Johnson will be the Democratic candidate in 1968 and I expect him to win the election. I hope to be the vice-president candidate."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a potential candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, attributed Kennedy's strong showing in the polls to "a combination of money, hard work, publicity and organization." He has suggested that Johnson might dump Humphrey and take Kennedy on the 1968 ticket.

Nixon and Humphrey, who will be among the most active campaigners for their parties in this year's elections, answered questions about the issues put to them separately by The Associated Press.

Humphrey said the economic boom is likely to dull the impact of inflation on the voters. Nixon said the high cost of living could be a more important issue than the Viet Nam war.

While the vice president discounted the political effect of the Asian conflict on the voters, Nixon said Republicans would benefit from "the deep division within the Democratic party over the war effort."

Rioting in some cities may develop a backlash against local officials (mostly Democratic) but not against national candidates, Humphrey said. Nixon generally agreed.

The former vice president pointed to high federal spending as an issue. Humphrey said the benefits of Great Society programs would overbalance it.

Although Kennedy has invitations to campaign for Democratic candidates in 18 or more states, his schedule is likely to be dwarfed by Humphrey. Aides said the vice president has ahead of him about 80 appearances in more than 35 states with "hundreds" of invitations he can't fill.

Starting with a September swing through California, Oregon and Washington, Humphrey will concentrate primarily on the agricultural Midwest.

In this connection he and Nixon were asked:

Q. How do you read the political intentions of the farmers at this point?

Humphrey — I think that the farmers, on balance, will take a good look at the farm economy today and at the price structure and at the farm programs and see that they have a reasonably good working program and that their prices are better, that their economic opportunity is better. I can't help but believe that this will be advantageous to the administration.

I recognize there have been some criticisms that have come from some of the rural areas, but with income up, with production up, with prices good, with surpluses down, with the demand for food both domestic and international growing, I have a feeling that's a pretty good base on which to place the hopes of the administration.

Nixon — I do not believe that any bloc of American voters has experienced a greater shift away from the Democratic party in the last two years than the American farmer.

Q. What is your estimate of your party's gains or losses in House and Senate races?

Nixon — In the November elections I will predict a minimum Republican net gain of 40 new House seats, 3 additional Senate seats, 6 new GOP governors and 700 state legislators.

Humphrey — I do not expect we will lose any Senate seats and I repeat — any of them. I would say that if the Republicans gained 45 or 50 House seats in this election, they could consider it a considerable victory. But I don't expect them to gain any appreciable number of seats.

Highlandtown Group To Sponsor Festival

HIGHLANDTOWN — Plans are being made for a fall festival in September by members of the Highlandtown Grange.

The event was discussed at Thursday night's meeting. The group also ordered new grange cookbooks to sell as a fund-raising project.

A wiener roast followed the business meeting. Mrs. Esther Smith and the Home Economics committee were in charge.

Officers will be elected at the Sept. 8 meeting.

LBJ Closes Visit In Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP) — President Johnson planned to close up shop at the LBJ Ranch today and head back to the White House, but there are indications he may be on the road again before week's end.

Several points have heard reports — as yet not confirmed by the White House — that Johnson may be coming their way this weekend. Summersville, W.Va., for one, expects him to be on hand for the dedication of a dam and reservoir project.

The President arrived at the ranch Friday night to celebrate his 58th birthday after speeches and much handshaking in Idaho, Colorado and Oklahoma.

The weekend before he stumped through upper New York, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. Other recent speaking trips took him to Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois.

While Johnson has said he expects to visit many other states before "the leaves turn brown," he has only one publicly announced commitment so far. When Ohio Democrats telephoned birthday congratulations Saturday he promised them he would visit that state before the November elections.

"No hill country rancher could ever have a better birthday," Johnson told newsmen Saturday. He counted his blessings as a happy, wonderful family, a nice house, a prosperous country.

The birthday greetings began Friday when crowds along his route sang and shouted "Happy birthday!" They continued through Sunday when the congregation at the First Christian Church in Johnson City joined the choir in singing "Happy birthday, dear President."

Later in the day, Johnson cruised around a lake near Marble Falls, Tex., at the wheel of a gold-colored inboard speedboat that was chased at about 45 miles per hour by other boats carrying Secret Service agents, newsmen and photographers.

Farm Laborers To Vote On Union

DELANO, Calif. (AP) — What labor experts are calling a crucial point in the unionization of American farm laborers will take place Tuesday when Di Giorgio Corp. farm workers vote in a union-representation election. The election takes place near this San Joaquin Valley community and in San Diego.

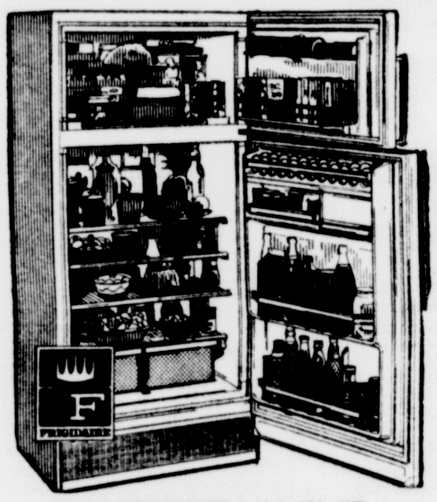

The two organizations battling for the right to represent the state's 80,000 farm workers are two of the nation's most powerful — the Teamsters Union and the AFL-CIO.

Both organizations have used every available medium to appeal for new members. Both have sponsored fiestas and have held other gatherings to attract voters.

Wallace School Defiance Could Mean Loss Of Aid

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Critics of Gov. George Wallace's plan to defy school integration guidelines have pointed a warning finger toward a 1964 federal court order.

It could mean the loss of state as well as federal funds for Alabama schools which refuse to comply.

The ruling, handed down by a three-judge court July 13, 1964, had nothing to do with the guidelines promulgated by the Health, Education and Welfare Department. They weren't even in existence then.

Instead, the court was concerned over Wallace's use of state troopers in an unsuccessful attempt to block integration of Tuskegee High School and, later, the mandate issued by the State Board of Education, with Wallace presiding as chairman, to close the Tuskegee school.

Because the state board claimed — and subsequently denied — jurisdiction and control over city and county schools throughout the state, the court suit which dealt originally with nothing but Macon County became one of statewide significance.

The three judges refused to order immediate statewide desegregation, but said, significantly, that the court "could and possibly should" compel the state to stop "the illegal and unconstitutional practice of distributing public funds for the purpose of operating segregated schools."

In support of its position, the three-judge panel cited a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which held that "state support of segregated schools cannot be squared with the (14th) Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The three-judge court followed then with this warning:

"Needless to say, it is only a question of time until such illegal and unconstitutional support of segregated school systems must cease. These state officials and the local school boards are now put on notice that within a reasonable time this court will expect and require such support to cease."

The decision was accompanied by an injunction, still in effect, which prohibited Wallace from "interfering with, preventing or obstructing by any means the elimination of racial discrimination by local school officials in any school district in the state of Alabama."

It also directed the governor and the State Board of Education to exercise their control and supervision "in such a manner as to promote and encourage the elimination of racial discrimination in the schools."

The injunction was directed against Wallace in his capacity as ex-officio chairman of the state board, and in the guidelines fight, he has not been acting in that role.

But the court said that "on proper motion" it would extend the injunction to Wallace as governor.

Such a motion could be made by any of the Negroes who filed the original suit, or by the Justice Department, which was brought into the suit by the court as one of the complaining parties.

Loss of state funds would cripple school systems in all but a few of the more populous and wealthier Alabama communities. The state contributes more than 70 per cent of the cost of running the schools.

Bad Luck Continues To Dog Steps Of Calcutta Area Man

Gerald Lee Stewart, 32, of Crestvue Pl., near Calcutta, must feel that all the bad luck in the tri - state area has descended upon his shoulders.

Last Wednesday, he lost his entire pay — $218 — in downtown East Liverpool.

This morning, his pickup truck was called a probable total loss after a collision in fog on St. Clair Ave. that damaged two other vehicles.

The truck was uninsured.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith recorded both strokes of bad luck for Stewart. He was serving on the desk at headquarters Friday when the man telephoned a report of the loss of his wallet containing his pay. And by coincidence, it was Officer Smith who was dispatched to investigate the collision at 7:04 this morning on St. Clair Ave. near Gardendale Ave. in which Stewart's 1956 model pickup was written off as a possible total loss.

The collision also involved a parked 1963 imported station wagon owned by Clyde Kidder of 2103 Crawford Ave. and a 1957 model pickup truck driven by Stanley W. Skeens, 31, of Stagecoach Rd., officers reported.

The series of mishaps began when Skeens, driving south on St. Clair about 20 miles an hour, struck the parked station wagon.

Skeens went to a telephone nearby to notify police of the crash. Then Stewart's pickup truck emerged from the fog and collided with the rear of Skeens' truck, shoving it over the curb, officers said.

Skeens' truck was equipped with a heavy bumper on the rear. The heavy bumper virtually demolished the front of Stewart's truck, police said.

The Calcutta man said the fog was so dense that he was only a car length from the rear of Skeens' truck when he first saw it.

Officer Smith corroborated the driver's report of heavy fog. He called the fog "extremely heavy" in the short stretch near Gardendale. The mist was so thick that the flashing red light atop the cruiser was barely discernible, he said.

Patrolman David K. Mumaw directed traffic at the scene.

Crowds Jam Fairgrounds At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Traffic backed up five miles in each direction during peak hours on Interstate 71 Sunday as motorists squeezed into Ohio State Fair parking lots preparatory to entering the grounds in record—by far numbers.

The exposition's publicity office announced when Sunday was over that the day's attendance was 212,977, including 135,976 paid.

This exceeded the record 192,521 of Saturday and brought the four-day total to 656,430 with eight days of the fair left.

Another queen was crowned. Miss Wool of Ohio, in the person of blonde Diana Sue Bostic, 18, of Hilliard, Franklin County. She will represent Ohio in the Miss Wool of America contest in Texas next June.

Appaloosa running races were another feature, and Flying Blue Bird, owned by Betty Armbrust of Washington Court House won the $2,500 purse in the Buckeye All-American Appaloosa Futurity.

Meanwhile, Perry Como arrived to take the spotlight which had shone on Bob Hope over the weekend and he'll headline tonight's grandstand show.

Herman's Hermits also were on the bill today.

"Days" being observed today included Columbus and Central Ohio Day, Crippled Children's Day, Health and Safety Day, and more.

Tuesday it's Dayton Day, Fraternal and Service Clubs Day, Ohio Festivals and Events Day.

Saturday night's Miss USA-World Pageant was won by Denise Blair, 19, of Layton, Utah.

Smoke Is Visible For Miles When Tires Are Fired

LISBON — A pillar of black smoke visible 10 miles marked the location of the Lisbon-Center Township dump Sunday afternoon.

Police said someone set fire to a pile of nearly 100 tires the attendant had stacked at the edge of the dump.

Volunteer firemen were called at 2:15 to keep the fire from spreading into the woods. The dump is off a township road two miles west of here.

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — Barry Goldwater completed a trip down Idaho's "River of no Return" Sunday and emerged at Salmon from nine days in the wilderness with stories about lightning storms, bears and big fish.

The former presidential candidate, with family and friends, shot the dangerous rapids of the Salmon River's Middle Fork in three rubber boats.

The lightning storm last Thursday touched off more than 70 range and forest fires in southern Idaho.

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Sinatra can sing in a New York cabaret again, if he wishes, without giving the city his fingerprints.

License Commissioner Joel J. Tayler said Sunday he will end the requirement that cabaret employes be fingerprinted — a regulation to which Sinatra refused to submit.

The City Council must approve Tayler's proposal.

Cabaret employes, including entertainers, bartenders, waitresses, waiters and owners, still must have a license.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Italian-American War Veterans of the United States Saturday night presented their national award to Michael A. Musmanno, Pennsylvania Supreme Court justice, as the "outstanding Italian-American on a national level for 1966."

A three-foot trophy was given to Musmanno at the group's 31st annual convention.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Denise Blair, 19-year-old beauty from Layton, Utah, wears the crown of Miss U.S.A.-World, but she wasn't the only winner in Saturday' night's pageant.

Comedian Bob Hope was named "Man of the Century" by pageant officials. Hope was one of the original sponsors of the contest and for the past several years has taken the reigning Miss U.S.A.-World with him on his annual Christmas tour of U.S. military installations.

This year will be no different for hazel-eyed Miss Blair, a 36-23-36 secretary and fashion merchandizing student whose hobbies are skiing and dancing.

The next stop will be the Miss World contest in London.

Professor Claimed

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Joseph Sizoo, 81, professor of religion at George Washington University, collapsed and died Sunday shortly after delivering a guest sermon in a Manhattan church. Dr. Sizoo, a native of the Netherlands, had served as a missionary in India and was president of the New Brunswick, (N.J.) Theological Seminary before going to George Washington University.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: A few nights ago we were sitting around with a group of extremely intelligent people and someone quoted you. As a rebuttal (and I'm sure in jest) one of the chaps said, "They ought to get her for practicing without a license."

I'm not trying to be impertinent, but would you please explain how and why you can give advice on legal, medical and emotional problems? Is it sufficient to quote from the authorities:

Let me repeat, I don't mean to be arbitrary. I'm merely inquisitive. — NOSEY PARKER.

P.S.: It was significant to me, at least, that every person in the room was a reader of your column.

Dear Parker: If it were possible to "get" me for anything, I assure you I would have been "got" long ago. I would not have been in this work for 11 years, nor would mine be the most widely syndicated column in the world.

I do not pretend to be what I am not. I despise the phony and dishonest. Legally, I could use the title 'Dr.' but I wouldn't dream of doing so since it was an honorary degree.

I repeatedly tell my readers that although I consult with top authorities in almost every field imaginable, I am not a lawyer or a physician or a psychiatrist. Every week I send thousands of people to professionals and to welfare agencies — which in itself is an enormous service. And this is precisely what I am trying to do — offer service to those who ask for it.

Why people write to a newspaper for help with personal problems is the subject for a book, but the fact is they do —approximately 1,000 of them every day.

No one needs a license to listen. No one needs a license to provide a shoulder to cry on or to direct the troubled and uninformed to service agencies, or to give a word of encouragement to the heavy-hearted, or a swift kick in the posterior to the arrogant.

There's more to getting the job done than having a license as any fisherman will tell you.

Modest Mate

Dear Ann: Ever since those husbands wrote to complain about their wives undressing in the closet I have been watching the paper to see if a wife would write in about her husband doing the same thing. No letter from a wife has appeared so I guess I'm the only woman in the whole country who is married to such a nut.

I've never seen Walter without a T-shirt, although we have been married two years. He even swims in his T-shirt. Walter is a healthy, normal man in every respect except this one.

He prefers a pitch black room for romance, but then I don't think there's anything unusual about that and I would never try to change it. But please tell me what you think about a husband who will not take off his T-shirt in front of his wife.— B. WILDFRED.

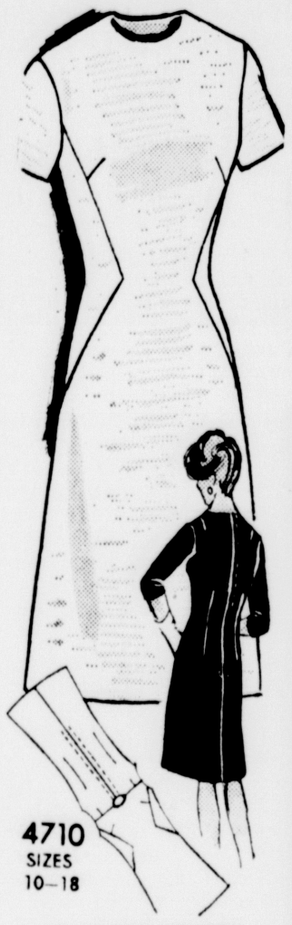

-:-

Dear B: Walter's fix is probably linked with his early childhood and it may be that even he doesn't know why or when it started.

There are worse things than a man whose hang-up is wearing a T-shirt at all times. For example: The moron who drives to and from the beach wearing only swimming trunks.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Thieves Remove Auto's Battery In Lot On E. 4th St.

A battery was stolen from an auto in an E. 4th St. parking lot in one of two cases of weekend thievery, police reported.

The 12-volt battery was removed sometime between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. Saturday from the 1962 station wagon of Raymond Cunningham of 721 E. 4th St., who is on vacation, officers said. The thievery was reported by the owner's son-in-law, Robert Harrison of 428 Sugar St., who was checking on the property in Cunningham's absence, officers said. The car was parked on a lot opposite Cunningham's home.

Meanwhile, John Manypenny of 910 Avondale St. told officers Saturday a woman's sweater was stolen from his car some time Thursday while it was parked at his home.

Kathy Sue Gray of 414 Walnut St., reported to police Saturday she has recovered a bicycle which was reported stolen from her home Thursday afternoon.

Crash Kills Ohioan

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—State police said a U-turn by the victim's car ended in a collision with a semi-trailer truck on Michigan 60 west of here that resulted in death for Richard B. Vann, 37, of Gallipolis, Ohio. Vann had just pulled out of a parking lot, officers said.

Gen. George Armstrong Custer, victim of the Indian massacre on the Little Big Horn, was born Dec. 5, 1839.

Truman Says Interest Could Spur Depression

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman has warned that spiraling interest rates could result in a serious depression.

With a rare public statement issued from his Independence, Mo., home, Truman joined many members of Congress in expressing concern at the upward movement in the cost of borrowing.

The Federal Reserve Board last December increased the discount rate it charges member banks and revised reserve requirements in moves to curtail lending. Since then, the prime interest rate charged by commercial banks has risen from 4.5 per cent to 6 per cent.

"We are told," Truman said, "that this (Federal Reserve Board) action was necessary to forestall inflation." But he added, "What is more likely to happen is that we will bring on a precipitous deflation if we persist in high interest rates. The result could be a serious depression."

The former president said higher interest rates are an added burden on all governments — federal, state and local — and that "added interest costs end up as a further tax on the consumer."

"We know from long experience that a drastic rise in interest rates works a hardship on the consuming public," he said. "It only benefits the privileged few."

Truman said he rarely comments "on matters which I am confident are receiving the concern and attention of the administration."

"But I thought this was a matter which had reached the point where it became necessary for me to speak," he added. "There is yet time to remedy the situation."

Federal Reserve Board chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. could not be reached for comment. A board spokesman noted, however, that Martin has said the problem is that borrowing has outstripped savings and that spending has outstripped the ability of the economy to produce goods and services.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon commented on the economy in answering questions about campaign issues put to them separately by The Associated Press.

Humphrey said the economic boom is likely to lessen the impact of inflation on the voters. Nixon said the increased cost of living could be a greater campaign issue than the war in Viet Nam.

There were these other weekend developments on the economic front:

—Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said he would introduce legislation early this week to suspend the 7 per cent business investment tax credit.

Long also said in a statement that the "high interest rates which the Federal Reserve Board has forced on the nation are nothing less than a national scandal."

—AFL-CIO President George Meany said the increase in interest rates "is making a major contribution to inflation."

"Not only has the high interest rate practically brought the home building industry in this country to a standstill but it is affecting everything that people buy," Meany said on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said in a speech to a Republican meeting at Hagerstown, Md., that "inflation is no longer a mere threat, it is a dangerous reality."

Man And Son 'Poor' Following Shootings

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Henry L. Storey, 52, and his son, Eddie, 17, of Windsor were reported in poor condition with multiple gunshot wounds after a shooting in front of a night spot on Ohio 45, sheriff's deputies said.

The shooting early Sunday followed a party at the night spot, deputies said. They said the elder Storey was shot and his son was wounded when he tried to aid his father.

Saint Francis Xavier, patron saint and apostle of India, was born Dec. 3, 1506.

Any Ol' Tarzan Will Do

The most surprising thing about the coming of Tarzan to TV is that it took all this time for a medium dedicated to escapism to get him. Even now our jungle hero isn't the same one who was set for the role when NBC signed its deal with producer Sy Weintraub last year.

Hal Humphrey

Mike Henry, ex-linebacker for the Los Angeles Rams and before that with the Pittsburgh Steelers, has portrayed Tarzan in the last three Tarzan movies made by Weintraub, who had sold Mike to NBC for the weekly hour TV series, or thought he had anyway.

-:-

AFTER finishing up this third Tarzan movie, Mike came to Weintraub and said he'd had it with the ape man bit and wanted no part of him in a TV series. An apocryphal story has it that Mike said, "I'd rather face the Detroit Lions than your damned Tarzan lions," which is a pretty witty remark for any football player.

At any rate the 6-foot-3, 220-pounder decided being Tarzan was too much of a strain, so Weintraub rushed back to Hollywood from his Brazilian movie location to hire Ron Ely, a 6-foot-4, 210-pounder from Hereford, Tex., with experience as an oil field hand and TV actor.

NBC okayed Ely, and when he swings through his first TV episode on the network's "preview week" beginning Sept. 8, Ely becomes Tarzan No. 15 in a line which began in 1918 when Elmo Lincoln donned loin cloth to become the movies' first Tarzan.

—:—

TARZAN NO. 11, Gordon Scott, who starred in "Tarzan and the Lost Safari" a dozen years ago, was ticketed to be TV's first Tarzan.

Movie producer Sol Lesser, who owned the rights for the Tarzan movies, suddenly found himself in litigation over the TV rights. Walter White Jr. and his Commodore Productions claimed the Edgar Rice Burroughs estate had extended him all TV rights.

It took two years before this wrangle was settled, then Lesser made the Tarzan TV pilot film for NBC with Scott as Tarzan and Lisa Davis as Jane. The half-hour film ran up a record budget of $249,000, according to Weintraub, and it never got on the air.

TV, you must remember, was more mature in those days and had not reached out yet to lure the nighttime kid audience.

-:-

THIS WAS IN 1957 that Tarzan failed to make it to TV and a short time later producer Lesser sold all movie and TV rights and the Tarzan library of 32 movies to Sy Weintraub for $3 million. Weintraub, who up to then was involved with a New York company which syndicated old movies and series to TV (including Superman), decided it would be more profitable if he nade more Tarzan movies and forgot TV temporarily.

"Do you realize that since the first Tarzan movie in 1918 not one of the 32 has lost money, and the theater gross when I bought the rights was more than $500 million?" Weintraub exclaims joyfully.

His own company has turned out seven Tarzan movies, four with the previously mentioned Gordon Scott and three with the now retired Mike Henry.

By waiting until now to make a TV deal, Weintraub is receiving from NBC the highest price ever paid for a series in a 7:30 p.m. time slot. In these days of "Batman," "Beverly Hillbillies" and "Flipper," it probably is not a nickel too much.

-:-

UNLIKE MOST of his movie predecessors, the TV Tarzan will be strictly a bachelor with a little native boy (played by Manuel Padilla Jr.) and Cheetah the chimp.

"Wait until you see Ron Ely," enthuses Weintraub. "He could become a sex symbol, something TV doesn't have too much of.

"My only worry now is that Ron will get hurt. He won't use a double. In a scene the other day he jumped off a cliff onto this lion's back. Naturally we're not using vicious animals, but how do we know this lion knows his lines?

"Even more frightening, I believe Ron really thinks he can take this lion in a no-holds-barred battle."

Does the new TV Tarzan give out with that famed yell? He does, but Weintraub admits it's the sound track from the old 1932 movie with Johnny Weissmuller.

Picture-Taking Phase Of Mission Winds Up Today

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter closed out the picture- taking phase of its moon-circling mission early today with its toughest assignment of all — trying to photograph Surveyor 1.

On orders from the earth transmitted Sunday, two pictures were to be snapped to the area where Surveyor 1 made its soft landing on the lunar surface early in July.

From today through Sept. 15, the flying photo laboratory will transmit the pictures it has taken.

Just when the projected photographs of Surveyor 1 will be transmitted was uncertain, a spokesman at Langley Research Center said. Surveyor 1 took many pictures of itself and the moon's surface.

Lunar Orbiter, which spent its first two weeks in orbit about the moon photographing possible landing sites for American astronauts, took its last picture of such areas Sunday night on its 55th orbit. The area photographed was Site 8.

Sunday morning the spacecraft transmitted photographs it had taken of Site 6 — with anticipated results. Normal lens photographs were excellent, those taken with the high-resolution lens — the close- ups — were not so good.

Keep In Trim

The Joy Of Victory Over Poundage

The French have a delightful phrase, joie de vivre, which translates into zest for living. Perhaps this phrase comes closest to describing the feeling experienced by a triumphant dieter. A young woman comments:

Ida Jean Kain

"To the former size - 20 who is now thrilled to wear size 16-tall, I doubt if the word 'thrilled,' or any other word, can fully express how she fells. I envy her singing talent, for, oh, what a wonderful way to express true joy! I am sure that reaching her goal has bolstered her confidence in herself. This having been done, many closed doors are now being flung wide open.

—:—

"I OFFER my experience to any who would wish to share what we have found.

"On March 1, 1965, my son was born. At that time I weighed 223 pounds. Blame not the pregnancy! At the start I weighed 234½ pounds. For some years I had gall bladder trouble. That spring it really flared up. On doctor's orders, I went on a fat-free diet and reduced to 190 pounds. In May I was forced to have the gall bladder removed.

"Post-operative care led to my doctor informing me that I had started hardening of the arteries due to my overweight. At 24 years of age the question, 'Do you want to live long?' is a staggering blow.

"I decided that I did want to live long. . .and now I do more than ever. My present weight is 124 pounds. I am 5' 2" and have a small frame. My dress size is now 10 and 12, from a former size 23½. It took until spring 1966 to accomplish the reducing. Thrilled? Well, as I pointed out, there is no word to express the feeling.

"To anyone who is burdened with considerable excess weight, I offer this challenge: Open the window in the morning and take a good look at God's beautiful world. Be honest with yourself. Are you able to get out and enjoy and be part of that world out there? If not, you can't know what you are missing!

—:—

"BELIEVE ME, the hardest part about dieting is getting started. Start! Success brings more success. . .it sort of snowballs. It is so wonderful to be able to feel proud of yourself. It's like climbing the tallest mountain. Once up there you take a deep breath and shout —'I've conquered!' And everyone can see that you have.

"Good luck to all mountain climbers. When you reach your goal. . .you try to find the right word to describe your new happiness," she concludes.

On what a glad song she sings! We rejoice with her.

LBJ Given Unity Vow By Party In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Democrats told President Johnson over the weekend that their birthday present to him was a "strong unified party in the state." The President indicated he would come see for himself during the fall election campaign.

State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., the Democratic candidate for governor, talked by phone Saturday with the President on his 58th birthday, and about 700 delegates at the Ohio Democratic Convention listened in by loudspeaker.

Johnson, who said he "wants to do everything that he possibly can" to help Ohio Democrats, probably will hit the Buckeye State soon after Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N. Y. State Democratic Chairman Morton Neipp announced at the convention that Kennedy will address an Oct. 8 fund-raising dinner here.

The state party's platform was adopted Saturday exactly as it was drawn up by the platform drafting committee. The 11 planks deal with education, civil rights, highway safety, industry and agriculture, welfare, mental health, conservation, finances, local government, juvenile delinquency and law and order.

U.S. Will Strive To Relocate 250 Jobless Miners

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Labor Department says it will attempt to relocate about 250 unemployed West Virginia coal miners, their families and jobless youths over a nine-month period.

The relocation project, announced here Sunday, is patterned after a similar experiment started last year.

The department said those selected in West Virginia will be moved to industrial areas of the state or to neighboring states and New England for training in available jobs.

A spokesman for the program said that last year 1,400 workers throughout the nation were moved an average of 686 miles and received an average of $400 for moving expenses in the form of grants or loans.

Police said Palermo's wife, Billy, a waitress in a Niles bowling alley restaurant, was being held in connection with the shooting. Palermo suffered bullet wounds in the abdomen.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: The cuphook has become one of my most trusted keeper-in-placers!

I use them for cups, of course and to hold cake racks on the inside of a cupboard door. (I use two for that.)

I also hang my cookie sheets, muffin tins and anything flat that will hang on them. It keeps them flat to the wall, gets them off the shelf and out of the way and it is much easier to get these things in and out.

Inside my utility cabinet, I use them to hang vegetable brushes and such.

In the bathroom, they are just as useful; in the medicine cabinet they hold toothbrushes and are equally as great for always - lost items like scissors.

I have several on the inside of my linen closet door (inside the bathroom) to hold my headbands. No more searching through drawers and shelves.

I imagine they'd adapt for keys, fly swatters and a multitude of things in a large house.

JUDI.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: I made the "puddle pads" one needs for a new baby from an old mattress cover.

I cut it in half crosswise and saved one half as an extra mattress cover for over the hot plastic one in the summer.

The other half, I cut into the sizes I needed and wanted for pads.

NADINE CAMPBELL.

DEAR HELOISE: We are great coffee drinkers and I have collected many beautiful three-pound coffee canisters.

My problem is how to really get the coffee odor out so I can use them for other things.

I would appreciate your help.

BETTY SUNLEY.

-:-

Ladies, have any of you found a sure-fire method of ridding those useful coffee cans of their aroma? If so, won't you please share it with us? Just drop me a line in care of this paper.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We do not use our old built-in ironing board, so we removed it, put in shelves of various heights to accommodate the different sizes of containers . . . and now have a wonderful spice cabinet!

We can find the spice we want at a glance, and they are out of sight when the door is closed.

EFFIE RUBY.

DEAR HELOISE: Need an inexpensive organizer?

Use the tops of hair spray cans. Turned upside down, they make attractive bins for desk articles, such as paper clips, rubber bands and thumb tacks.

Also try using them as lipstick keepers and jewelry separaters.

You will even find them useful for touch-up painting when you wish to carry a small amount of paint around without all the inconvenience and the mess of a large can.

MRS. J. E. MARSHALL.

DEAR HELOISE: I sweeten my fresh fruit salad with the granulated orange drink mix which comes in a jar.

Delicious!

LOVE THAT FRUIT.

DEAR HELOISE: A hint for warming chilled baby bottles while traveling by automobile:

In cool weather, wrap the bottle in a diaper and place it on the dashboard next to the defroster outlet and turn on the defroster.

In summer lay the bottle on a diaper on the dashboard and let the sun warm the bottle.

'Artificial Pump' Figure Continues To Gain Strength

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Regaining strength each day, a woman whose heart was helped for several days with an artificial pump, spent another day out of bed visiting with relatives Sunday.

Esperanza del Valle Vasquez, 37, Mexico City beauty parlor operator, who underwent surgery for the temporary heart help Aug. 8, has been able to take short unassisted strolls for several days at Methodist Hospital.

Hospital advisories said she continues to recuperate without complications.

The artificial pump, called a left ventricular bypass, was removed after 10 days when physicians determined her natural heart had healed and no longer needed the assistance of the pump.

Aramaic, the language of Jesus, is now spoken by only a few thousand persons living in isolated villages in Syria.

Taxi Drivers Asking Repeal Of Ordinance

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Taxi drivers here are asking the City Council to repeal an ordinance that forbids ladies riding up front with the drivers.

The cab owners explain that old people often can't get in and out of the rear seats because of a six - inch drop in the back floor."

The city ordinance, fashioned during World War II, says that the front seat can't be used by a person of the opposite sex of the driver.

Adhesive Requires Care, Or You're Stuck With It

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Whatever secret there is to the correct installatinn of resilient floor tiles is mixed up somehwere in the adhesive.

You don't need an engineering degree to put down tiles. It's even less difficult than making a miniature structure out of toy blocks. You merely have to butt one tile against the other without any danger of your creation falling over.

But the project falls out of a child's area because of the necessity of binding the tiles to the floor with an adhesive.

Since the same dealer that sells floor tiles sells the proper type of adhesive for these particular tiles, it would seem unlikely that anyone could use the wrong cement.

But our mail over the years shows that this isn't necessarily so. Somehow, in some way, some persons use adhesives which aren't ideal for the kind of tiles they have purchased.

—:—

THERE ARE two general types of adhesive for the cementing of resilient floor tiles.

One is used for asphalt and vinyl asbestos, the other for vinyl rubber and other materials. But within these two types, there are some variations. Therefore, when you buy tile, ask the dealer to give you the specific adhesive for it.

Where you have a choice, select a brand made by the company that makes the tile. But no matter what, read the label on the container to be sure you are getting what your need.

At a nominal price, you can get an installation kit which includes a notched spreader for applying the adhesive.

Follow the instructions on the container for its proper use. You will find that, with asphalt and vinyl asbestos tile, you can spread the adhesive on one quarter or one half of the floor at one time. With this adhesive, you must wait a considerable period of time for it to dry before applying the tiles.

In fact, if you don't have time to finish the job, you can wait until the next morning to do so. This type of adhesive will cause you all kinds of trouble if it is spread too thickly or if it is still damp when the tiles are laid.

WITH OTHER resilient tiles, you can put down only enough adhesive to take care of 10 or less tiles at one time. The procedure is to spread the cement, almost immediately installing the tiles, then going on to the next limited floor area.

After three or four rows of tiles have been laid, they should be rolled, either with a rented large floor roller or a smaller one, such as a household rolling pin. Asphalt and vinyl asbestos tiles need not be rolled.

Steel Slated To Be Strong In September

CLEVELAND (AP)—The nation's output of steel has varied by more than 55,000 tons—or about four hours production—in weekly totals for the last seven weeks and is expected to continue steady and strong in September, Steel Magazine said today.

The weekly journal of metalworking estimated last week's production at 2,501,000 net tons, unchanged from the preceding week.

Steel said August production is shaping up to be about 11.1 million net tons, about 300,000 more than in July and second only to the record August output of last year.

"The auto industry will not supply as much of a business lift in September as steel companies had hoped for," Steel reported. The total of orders for September delivery was below what was expected as the deadline for placing orders at mills neared.

Keeping demand for steel up despite the slack in automotive consumption are the construction industry, machinery builders and railroads, Steel said.

Freight car building is making good business for producers of wheels and axles, the magazine said, and demand for railroad rails is likely to result in an order carryover into 1967.

The steel scrap market continued soft, with a decline last week of 33 cents in steel's composite No. 1 heavy melting to $29.50 a gross ton.

Tips Are Offered On Wall Cleaning

Question: We recently bought an old brick house. Two of the walls appear to be in good condition, but the other two have various kinds of stains. Some appear to be paint, some oil and some just seem to be rust. What is the best way to clean these walls?

Answer: Different types of stains require different kinds of treatment, which is true of all stains, whether on brick, other building materials or fabrics.

For paint stains, a commercial paint remover may be best, although you can use a solution of two pounds of trisodium phosphate to one gallon of water. Apply the mixture to the stained area, wait about 20 minutes, then remove the paint with a wire brush.

For extra stubborn paint stains, repeat the treatment, using steel wool the second time. Oil stains can be removed with the same solution, plus a small amount of whiting, which is a powdered chalk. Spread over the stain and let it dry.

Using a scraper, take off the hardened mixture, which should bring most or all of the oil with it. Again, repeat the treatment if needed. Be very sure each time that you rinse the area thoroughly. For rust stains, mix seven parts of lime-free glycerine with one part sodium citrate and six parts of water. Add powdered calcium carbonate to form a paste, which then is spread on the stain and allowed to harden.

The paste, which later is scraped off, should draw up the oil into it. Two points about cleaning bricks: (1) always wet the area first; and (2) always wear rubber gloves and old clothes.

Ex-Seaman Returning To Sea In Own Boat

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — An ex-seaman is going back to sea in his own sailboat.

Conrad Gustafson, 68, has embarked on traveling through the inland waterway system to Miami on a 14-foot boat that he built.

He named the boat "Alice" after his wife.

Shipwrecked four times durin his career as a seaman, Gustafson was born in Gefle, Sweden. He took to the sea at age 14 and sailed on various vessels until the 1920's when he came to the United States.

In 1919, after a ship bound from South America to Copenhagen sank, he was among five crew members of 19 who were able to get off the sinking craft. The five sailed 500 miles before they were rescued.

American Ingenuity Discovered In Jail

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — Jailer Joe Proffitt recently discovered an example of good, old American ingenuity and know-how in the London jail.

Two teen-agers made a miniature moonshine still from such odds and ends as coffee and tobacco cans and copper tubing from their cell commode.

Mash for the whisky was made by adding water to crumbled cornbread and sugar salvaged from their meals.

A Strip Tease

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Houses Get Full Treatment

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A strip tease worth the price of admission might be the one performed by Howard Perry Rothberg II when he begins to design the interior of a house where he has free reign.

He'll peel and peel and peel and think nothing of gutting a house from roof to basement. Walls, floors, ceilings, layer after layer, are likley to be removed as clients wait breathlessly for the artistic venture to take shape.

"I hate anything done by anybody else," he explains. "I don't like gimmickry. I don't like trends. I like only what will be timeless 50 years from now.

"When I work with a client, I do all the architecture myself and before we discuss furniture, we do backgrounds.

—:—

"I LIKE textured walls — brick, wood, fabric — and I won't paint walls anything but white under any circumstances.

"Colored paints are lifeless in my opinion. If anyone insists on colored walls, I upholster them. I'd rather have bright colors on furniture than on walls."

The expense of a house in his opinion comes after you build if you haven't thought of building it as a permanent installation with long - lasting materials that do not need renewal year after year.

He is mad for white. All the floors in his Florida house — which was completely gutted — are white ceramic tile in a hexagonal design with one - inch squares between. He uses the same kind of white tiles in his New York brownstone except in his kitchen and office where he uses red quarry tile, set in a parquet - like pattern. The ceramic tile is enclosed in a double border of wood strips. It was his own idea and it was easily installed, he says.

"I find upkeep on these tiles easier than other materials, and I prefer the look — neat, clean, elegant."

—:—

FOR EXAMPLE, the tile is used on a stair landing around a slim stair rail of white metal and brass that is a cool contrast to the bright green carpet that is used over the open stairs. The white tile spills under white iron gates into a large dining room for a lovely spatial effect.

Other areas of the house have a rustic look. The bathroom off a dignified master bedroom is of white painted pecky cypress boards in random design, rising into a roof skylight of colored glass.

If he can't sell clients on his favorite white floors, Rothberg will let them have beige ceramic tile punctuated with the inch-white squares.

He considers white a permanent installation because it can go with anything all the time.

Brick and quarry tile floors make a compatible kitchen. Red brick is used from floor to counter tops, and with wood paneling, and everything is built into brick.

In his office, he uses rough-sawn pine and batten strips, painted white, on the walls.

A den and guest bedroom has brick walls combined with oak paneling.

—:—

ROTHBERG began in the decorating business about 12 years ago. The interest had begun earlier when he was asked to help decorate some rooms for a club. He found a flair for interior design. At the time he was in the oil business with his father. Interior design has proved to be his big gusher.

"I don't have many clients, but they're good ones," he says grinning, exhibiting pictures of a $100,000 home that he's doing.

But he'll do a $3,000 budget as he is now doing for newly-weds, "providing they'll do it the way I want it done.

"I'm flattered that they wanted me and I'm going to help them," he says, and who knows, some day they may be working with a $103,000 budget.

Tips Outlined For Concrete

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The average home owner is quite familiar with the manner in which concrete forms should be made when he wants to lay a sidewalk or any kind of platform, but not all know how to get the best results in finishing the work or how to go about it with the least effort.

An example is a typical form which has been filled to the top with concrete. The straight-edged board across the form is known technically as a screed.

Screeding is the best - known method for getting the exactly even and smooth surface required before troweling is done. The screed should not be drawn along the top of the form boards, but should be worked back and forth as though you were cutting a log, and slowly moved forward as the sawing motion continues. This removes all excess concrete and also floats the surface smooth.

When the concrete is well screeded off, a wood float is used to get a harder finish. And where a particularly hard and dense surface is wanted, a steel float should be used. Where a rough surface is desired, the concrete should be allowed to set until it will just take the impression of a nail or the corner of the trowel; then it should be rubbed in a circular motion with a dry burlap bag or other rough fabric. This gives a slightly pebbly surface which is best for steps and other walking surfaces.

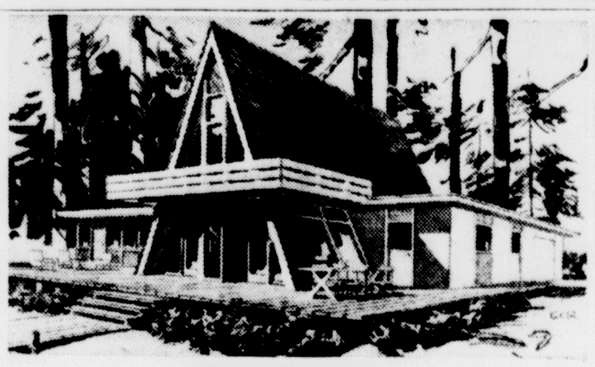

The greatest mistake a person can make is to fail to cover new concrete work and keep it damp for several days.

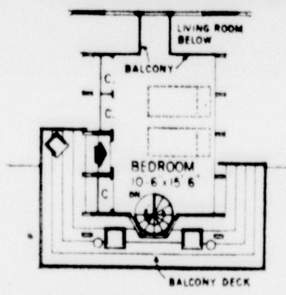

It takes 28 days for fresh concrete to set completely and reach its maximum of strength, although it is safe to walk on it after four or five days. The amateur concrete worker should resist the impulse to strip the forms off before five days have elapsed.

Road Project Slated For Trumbull County

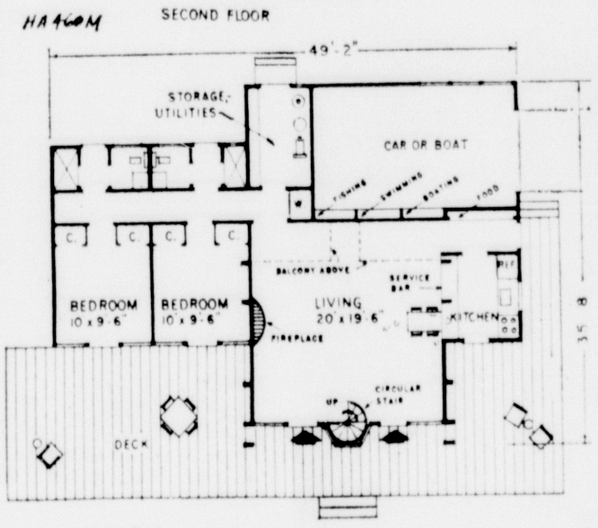

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state will widen and resurface 6.9 miles of Ohio 45 in Trumbull County to accommodate increased traffic generating from the General Motors plant near Warren, the Ohio Highway Department has reported.

Bids on the $3 million project will be opened in Columbus Oct. 18. The work begins about a half-mile north of the Mahoning-Trumbull County line and extends to Ohio 5 in Warren.

HA460M SECOND FLOOR

FIRST FLOOR

AN EXPANDABLE vacation home, Plan HA460M, is perfect for the growing family. This house can be built with two bedrooms and one bath adding on bedrooms and baths as a family grows. A garage was designed rather than an open carport for security to act as a small boat storage area and as store room with equipment lockers on off vacation seasons. An interior balcony at the second level overlooks a portion of the living room. A circular staircase in octagonal glass bay gives access to bedroom above and to outdoor balcony deck. The large, almost 20-foot-square living area can double for games, eating, entertaining or sitting around relaxing. There are 1,029 square feet of living space on the main floor and 175 square feet on the deck level. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y.

2,100 More Left Idle As New Strikes Begin

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Union Carbide Corp., whose Alloy, W. Va., production force of 1,200 has been idle since July 2 in a labor dispute, counted another 2,100 off the job today as the result of strikes begun Sunday.

In each instance, failure to come to new contract terms triggered the strike.

About 1,200 workers at the metals division plant here, another 800 at the Union Carbide Metal Co. division in Ashtabula, and 100 at a similar installation in Portland, Ore., struck.

The firm, with major offices in New York City and Cleveland and several other plants around the country still operating, said the strikes were unrelated.

In fact, the one here is by an Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union and the ones at Ashtabula and Portland by United Steelworkers.

Pennsylvania To Boost Aid

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — An average family of five in Pennsylvania will receive a $25-a-month increase in maximum public assistance grants starting Oct. 1.

The family's grants will rise from $196.70 to $221.70 a month, Gov. Scranton said this weekend in a statement announcing increases in welfare payments.

Grants to each person receiving general assistance, aid to the disabled and aid to dependent children will be increased by $5 a month, the governor said.

The old - age assistance payment will be hiked by $1 a month. These increases were provided by the 1966 legislature.

Scranton noted that medical costs of these needy families also are paid in full and that many further benefit under the federal food stamp program.

The Scranton administration had proposed about an $11 million increase in public assistance grants for the current fiscal year which began July 1. House Democrats boosted this to nearly $27 million.

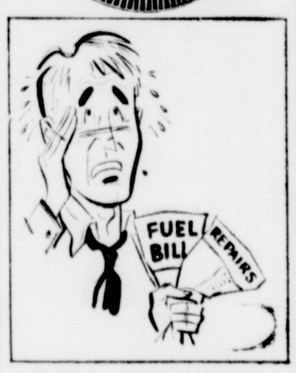

Some $4.4 million of the total increase will be covered by federal funds, the governor said.

This marks the third major increase in public assistance grants made by the Scranton administration.

Last October a $1-a-month increase in food, clothing and incidental grants was approved.

Pirate Split, Giants' Loss Leave 2-Way Tie For First

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Willie Davis Leads Los Angeles Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Davis' current hitting splurge may not win the National League batting crown for him, but it could help win the National League pennant for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Davis, who had spring thoughts of winning the batting title, lashed four hits for the second consecutive day as the Dodgers defeated San Francisco 5-2 Sunday and moved to within one game of the league lead.

The loss dropped the Giants into a tie for first with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who defeated St. Louis 5-1 after losing the opener of the doubleheader 3-2.

Davis' homer and three singles extended his streak to eight straight hits before he grounded out in the ninth inning. Since Aug. 6, when he was hitting .268, the 26-year-old lefty has collected 36 hits in 96 at-bats for a lusty .375 mark.

Over-all he's now hitting .289.

Elsewhere in the National League Cincinnati stopped Philadelphia 5-2, Atlanta defeated New York 8-4 and Houston edged Chicago 4-3.

In the American League Boston beat Baltimore 3-2, New York trounced Detroit 8-1, Washington trimmed Cleveland 3-2, Kansas City nipped California 2-1 and Chicago took a marathon doubleheader from Minnesota, 4-3 in 15 innings and 7-6 in 11.

Davis' first-inning homer started 20-game winner Gaylord Perry on the way to his fourth defeat. Jim Lefebvre's fourth-inning homer broke a 1-1 tie, and Davis singled in the seventh before Ron Fairly homered. Don Sutton allowed the Giants only five hits, none between the second and eighth innings.

Roberto Clemente doubled home two runs and scored another on Donn Clendenon's double as the Pirates erupted for four runs in the sixth inning of the nightcap. Bill Mazeroski added a homer in the ninth.

The Cardinals jumped in front in the first inning of the first game as Ted Savage tripled in one run and scored another. Savage got the triple when center fielder Matty Alou misjudged his line drive.

Jim Maloney and Don Nottebart combined for a five-hitter against Philadelphia. Cincinnati battered Larry Jackson for three runs in the first inning and went on to their fifth straight victory. Vada Pinson homered for the Reds in the third.

Homers by Ed Mathews and Rico Carty powered Atlanta past New York. Met errors by Ed Kranepool and Ken Boyer accounted for three more Braves' runs.

John Bateman's single triggered a two-run, fourth-inning rally that sent Houston to its fifth straight triumph. Bateman scored on Randy Hundley's passed ball, and Joe Morgan singled home the second run.

Whitaker Wrecks Tiger Pitching

Yankee Rookie Climaxes Week Hitting Grand Slam

By DICK COUCH

Steve Whitaker is learning to live with himself but the Detroit Tigers still haven't found a way to live with Whitaker.

Whitaker, finishing his first week in the American League Sunday, slugged a grand-slam homer as the New York Yankees whipped Detroit 8-1, completing a three-game sweep and all but finishing the Tigers as pennant contenders.

The 22-year-old outfielder, brought up from the Yankees' Toledo farm club last Monday, clubbed Tiger pitching for seven hits — including a homer in each game — and drove in seven runs while boosting his seven-game batting mark to .391.

Not long ago, however, Whitaker was battling himself as well as opposing pitchers. "If I had a couple of bad days," he said, "I'd get all nervous and tensed up. I'm a streaky guy. I go good for a while, and then I go bad for a while.

"I've gotten over this problem, though. I don't let a bad day bother me."

Whitaker had enough good days — 30 home runs and a .300 batting average at Toledo and Columbus, Ga., this year — to merit promotion to New York. It appears he is there to stay.

While Whitaker's grand slam and rookie Fritz Peterson's six-hit pitching were taming the Tigers, the Boston Red Sox edged Baltimore 3-2, leaving the Orioles 12½ games in front of runner-up Detroit.

Elsewhere, Kansas City nipped California 2-1; Washington shaded Cleveland 3-2 and Chicago swept a marathon doubleheader from Minnesota, 4-3 in 15 innings and 7-6 in 11.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis divided a National League twin bill the Pirates taking the nightcap 5-1 after bowing 3-2, while Los Angeles trimmed San Francisco 5-2, Atlanta beat New York 8-4, Houston topped Chicago 4-3 and Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 5-2.

Singles by Horace Clarke and Bobby Richardson and an intentional walk to Tom Tresh set the stage for Whitaker's fifth-inning slam into the right-field bleachers. In the sixth, Whitaker again came up with the bases loaded but Detroit reliever Orlando Pena balked a run across and the Yankee rookie then grounded out.

Joe Foy's run-scoring single in the seventh snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Red Sox their second straight 3-2 decision over Baltimore. Carl Yastrzemski had pulled Boston even in the fifth with an RBI single, chasing Orioles starter Jim Palmer.

Jim Nash, the Athletics' sensational rookie, checked California on six hits for his ninth victory in 10 decisions. Sixth-inning singles by Phil Roof and Larry Stahl delivered Kansas City runs.

The Senators broke a 2-2 deadlock on Jim King's two-out single in the ninth inning and extended their winning string to five games. King's hit scored Willie Kirkland, who had walked and moved up on Bob Saverines's infield single.

Tommie Agee's run-scoring single in the 15th pushed Chicago past the Twins in the opener, ending a four-game losing string for the White Sox, and Jerry Adair won the second game with a lead-off homer in the 11th.

'Halftime' Talk Fires Up Champs Of Little League

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Baseball doesn't have a halftime like football but the Houston, Tex., Little League manager made an hour-long rainstorm serve the same purpose.

Houston was trailing West New York, N.J., 2-0, in the Little League World Series championship game Saturday when the rains came in the third inning.

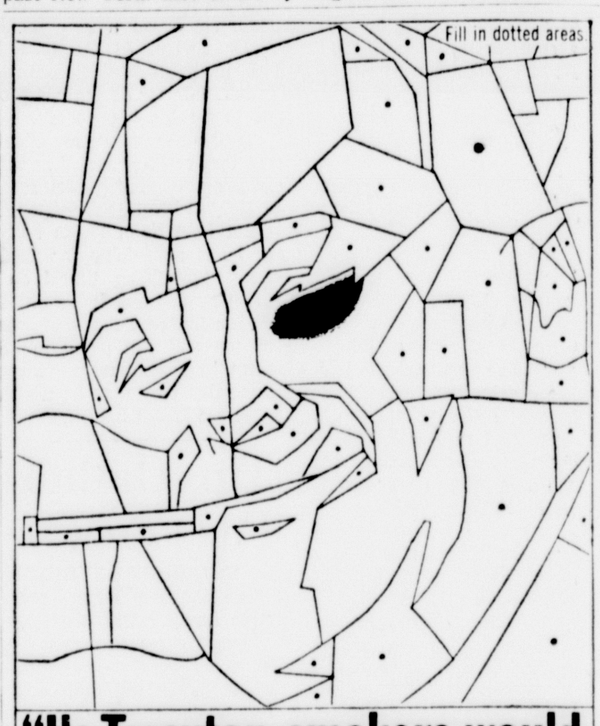

Houston Manager Ray Plumb Jr. took the opportunity to deliver a pep talk. "Everybody got fired up," Steve Reeves, a Houston player, said.

Texas returned to the diamond, loaded the bases and Reeves swatted a single to score two runs. Houston went on to defeat the New Jersey team 8-2 and capture the 1966 championship.

Buckpasser Seeks Tenth Straight Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Buckpasser, described by trainer Eddie Neloy as a horse who "likes to win," goes after his 10th straight this week in the $250,000 New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic at Rockingham Park.

Proclaimed as one of the best thoroughbreds in turf history after his record-shattering feats as a 3-year-old this season, the famed son of Tom Fool also can pass Citation on the equine millionaire list by winning the New Hampshire on Saturday.

Buckpasser, owned by Ogden Phipps, became the first 3-year-old ever to reach the $1-million plateau when he won the Travers at Saratoga in his last outing. That gave him earnings of $1,038,369 compared to Citation's $1,085,766.

There are only four other equine millionaires. Kelso tops the list with $1,977,896 followed by Round Table with $1,749,869, Nashua with $1,288,565 and Carry Back with $1,241,165.

Buffle, Jolly Jet, Advocator, Exhibitionist and Sense Of Rhythem are expected to be in the field against Buckpasser who last month set a world record of 1:32 3-5 for the mile.

Bold Bidder upset Tom Rolfe by 3½ lengths in $109,200 Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park in last Saturday's top race. Bold Bidder's time for the mile was 1:32 4-5, just one-fifth off Buckpasser's world record.

Another surprise was chalked up by Bold Hour who beat Great Power in the $107,700 Hopeful Stakes that closed the Saratoga meeting.

Turn To Talent won the Pageant Handicap at Atlantic City, Naughty Jester took the Rainbow Handicap at Rockingham Park and Drin beat Fleet Host by a head in the Del Mar Derby in Saturday's other features.

Falcons Surprise 49ers To Gain 1st Pro Victory

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"They're a real football team."

Atlanta Coach Norb Hecker said it — and even he had to be among the doubters until Saturday night when his new Falcons, a cast of hand-me-downs and rookies, posted victory No. 1 in the National Football League by upending San Francisco 24-17 in an exhibition game.

The Falcons not only scored their first victory but slipped in ahead of the American League's Miami Dolphins and did just what everyone was saying they couldn't.

When the two leagues stocked the expansion clubs, it was generally considered that the AFL had been more generous and that the Dolphins had received stronger talent than the Falcons did from the stocking plan in the NFL.

Victories, however, speak louder than words, the Dolphins are still winless and the Falcons aren't.

Hecker, meanwhile, singled out two rookies for particular praise — quarterback Randy Johnson of Texas A&I and linebacker Tommy Nobis of Texas.

Johnson, getting his first long look at quarterback, completed 13 of 21 passes for 285 yards, engineered scoring drives of 77, 87 and 79 yards and clinched the victory over the 49ers with a 35-yard scoring strike to Alex Hawkins.

"I thought Randy did a beautiful job," said Hecker. "I didn't send in but one or two plays all night. Nobis? What can you say about him? He played as well as ever — and that's tremendous."

While the Falcons broke their winless streak, the Dallas Cowboys won their fifth without a loss by downing Detroit 20-10, Green Bay throttled Pittsburgh 17-6, Los Angeles walloped St. Louis 32-14 and Philadelphia edged New York 24-23.

In American League action, preparatory to Friday's regular season opener between the Dolphins and Oakland at Miami, Kansas City finished unbeaten after a 31-20 victory over Houston, the New York Jets upended Buffalo 34-17, Oakland humbled Denver 52-21 and San Diego crushed Boston 31-13.

January Withstands Rush By Nicklaus To Win Title

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Don January persisted to the bitter end. Even with $21,000 in his sweaty paw for winning the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic all he could say was:

"I'm tired, very tired."

This was where everybody came in.

From the minute he arrived at the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club last Wednesday, the somber Texan pleaded exhaustion. He didn't know where he was going to find the strength to lift a club.

Well, he lifted enough of the right ones for a 69-69-69-71-278, and a one-stroke victory over Jack Nicklaus, despite two almost unbelievable eagles on the final round Sunday by the Masters and British Open champion.

"I felt all day I could win," January said. "I knew if I lost it I would have to give it away."

Explaining how an exhausted golfer could shoot 10 under par for 72 holes over a tight course that requires finesse, January replied:

"I believe I swing better when I'm tired."

The 36-year-old January, in his 11th year as a touring professional, collected his first winning check since the 1963 Tucson Open.

January was tied with Arnold Palmer for the lead after 54 holes, each with 207. Nicklaus was five strokes back as they teed off for the final 18.

After nine holes of the final round, Nicklaus had charged into the lead by a stroke.

The Columbus belter finished with a 67 for 279 and second place. Palmer, shooting a final-round 74, shared third place with Bob Goalby and Gene Littler at 281. U.S. Open Champion Billy Casper had a 285 and PGA king Al Geiberger a 290.

Women's League Meet

Texan Captures Toledo Tourney

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Ladies golf's own Dandy Sandy seems to be getting a crush on Ohio—or more aptly, a crushing grip on Ohio golf tournaments—that may stand her in good stead. $10,000 worth, this week.

Sandra Haynie, the petite belter from Fort Worth, Tex., won the Glass City Classic at Toledo, latest stop on the LPGA tour, Sunday to go with her earlier triumph at Cincinnati.

Those have been her only 1966 victories.

But about midway between Toledo and Cincinnati lies Springfield, Ohio, which starting Thursday is the scene of the first Ladies World Series of Golf with $10,000 top prize for 36 holes of medal play.

So if Ohio air, or cooking, or whatever makes Sandra tick, don't overlook her in the sparkling field of six top women professionals.

At Toledo's par 71 Highland Meadows, Miss Haynie rallied with 16th and 17th hole birdies, withstood an 18th hole bogey that allowed Gloria Ehret to catch back up to her, then went three playoff holes before besting the 25-year-old Allentown, Pa., golfer.

Miss Haynie, who started the final round of the 54-hole event one stroke behind Miss Ehret, fired a subpar 70 to Gloria's par. Both bogeyed the first sudden-death hole, both parred the next, then Miss Haynie rolled home a 28-foot putt for the winning birdie.

It earned her $3,750 of the $25,000 purse, the LPGA's biggest of 1966, pending the $32,000 World Series. Gloria banked $2,950.

They had 213s through 54 holes, three ahead of the nearest competitor, Mickey Wright, who fell off the pace on the final nine.

Change Made In OEA Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 83,000-member Ohio Education Association (OEA) fired its executive secretary, T. G. O'Keefe, Saturday and promoted his assistant as a temporary replacement.

O'Keefe, 58, had held the job since 1961. The Bellefontaine native earned $26,800 a year in the post with the organization that is the leading lobbyist for schools and teachers.

The OEA executive committee voted unanimously to oust O'Keefe, who still has two years to go on his current contract. O'Keefe said he presumed he would be paid the next two years and would hire a lawyer to make sure he did.

The committee named administrative assistant Kermit Daugherty, a former superintendent of schools in Jackson, to fill O'Keefe's job pending selection of a permanent successor.

The OEA gave no reason for the change, but several sources said executive committee members thought O'Keefe was ineffective in the post, especially in attempts to get more state money for schools.

The OEA is comprised of teachers and school administrators.

It's In Orbit, Russians Say Of Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — After a silence of 36 hours, the Soviet government announced today that its unmanned spaceship Luna 11 had successfully gone into orbit around the moon.

Luna 11 was launched last Wednesday and reached the vicinity of the moon Saturday night. Then it went silent, arousing speculation that it had overshot or crashed into the moon. But Britain's Jodrell Bank Radio Observatory reported Sunday night that new signals had been picked up.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the British space tracking station, said Luna 11 undoubtedly was in orbit around the moon.

There was no explanation for the Russians' delay in claiming success for the second Soviet spaceship to orbit the earth's lunar satellite.

The only previous Soviet announcement about Luna 11, made when it was launched, said the spaceship would orbit the moon and study near lunar space. Luna 11's mission is believed to be to take pictures of possible sites for landing of a manned space vehicle on the moon.

Luna 10, which on April 3 became the first spaceship to orbit the moon, sent back no pictures to the earth.

However, the announcement today contained no mention of pictures.

A U.S. spacecraft has been orbiting the moon for two weeks, photographing possible landing sites.

In square measure, an acre is 4,840 yards or 43,560 square feet.

Anti-Strike Decree Set Up In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Military strongman Juan Carlos Ongania virtually abolished the right to strike Sunday and metal workers canceled a strike call.

The General Federation of Labor is expected to oppose the antistrike decree, which provides for government arbitration when labor and management cannot agree. No strikes would be permitted during the arbitration.

Firms failing to comply with arbitration rulings would be fined up to $1,000 for each employe. Employes failing to comply would be dismissed, without compensation, and lose their union rights.

Strikes plagued the civilian government of President Arturo Illia which Ongania and the army overthrew two months ago.

3 Executed In Egypt In Anti-Nasser Plot

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Three leaders of the outlawed Moslem Brotherhood terrorist organization were executed at dawn today for plotting to assassinate President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Newspapers said Nasser had commuted the death sentences given four others to imprisonment for life.

Troops with machine guns ringed the Cairo appeal prison where the three were hanged. Newsmen were not allowed to enter the jail and were ordered out of the area as soon as the bodies were cut down.

Seven men were found guilty by a special military tribunal Aug. 21 of conspiring to kill Nasser and other top government leaders and planning a nationwide campaign to set up a theocratic state.

God saw you growing weary
So he did what he thought best
He came and stood beside you,
And whispered, "Come and rest."

Nor even said good bye
You were gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why
Sadly missed by Mother, Brother and Nieces.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA SHELLS

QUESTION: What are sea shells made of?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: When we see a pretty, empty shell on a beach, we are apt to forget that an interesting little animal once built it. These shellmakers are mollusks — small, soft, boneless creatures. Such a mollusk hatches from the egg as a free swimming larva or veliger (1). After awhile, he settles to the bottom (2) with his wing-like paddles gone. He looks tempting to many hungry predators, but he protects himself with an ingenious system. His soft body is covered with a fleshy cape or mantle (3), and the mantle is able to extract carbonate of lime from the sea water and deposit it as a strong hard material or shell. As the young mollusk keeps growing, adding larger spirals to the tiny shell he carried as a veliger, the mantle keeps covering them with shell (2). Then, when danger threatens, the animal can pull inside his shell, closing the entrance with a hard plate or trap door which he carries around attached to the end of his body. Some mollusks, like the clam, build shells of other shapes, but the material is deposited by the mantle in the same general way.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Shells are among the most wonderful things in nature. Consider starting a collection of them.
